13 DIE IN AMARNATH CLOUDBURST, 40 MISSING

Rescue operations underway after a cloudburst in the lower reaches of the Amarnath cave in Pahalgam swept away multiple tents and put pilgrims in grave danger, on Friday evening | ANI

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

AT least 13 people were killed and 40 others went missing on Friday after a massive cloudburst near the Amarnath cave shrine in J&K. It happened at a time when the annual pilgrimage was in full swing. The yatra has since been put on hold. Rescue operations were on at the time of going to press. Officials said many of those rescued were injured and were airlifted to hospitals.

Army's ALH helicopters are part of the search and rescue operations. Officials, however, said operations at night could be hampered because of the difficult terrain, lack of light and bad weather conditions. Prime Minister Narendra Modi assured the administration of all help.

A paramilitary official said the cloudburst occurred around 5.30 pm near the Amarnath cave, where both yatra routes merge — the shortest one from Baltal and the traditional Pahalgam route. He said many langars (food courts) and other tents were washed away by the flash floods after the cloudburst. Pilgrims were in the langars and tents when the flash floods struck.

The NDRF, SDRF, J&K Police, CRPF, Army, BSF, ITBP, Amarnath shrine board and the civil administration are part of the rescue operations. The J&K Police deployed its mountain rescue teams.

Shri Amarnath Shrine Board CEO Nitishwar Kumar said a call on resuming of the yatra would be taking after inputs from the weather department.

Helplines have been activated to assist pilgrims. They are NDRF: 011-23438252, 011-23438253; Kashmir Divisional Helpline: 0194-2496240; Shrine Board Helpline: 0194-2313149.

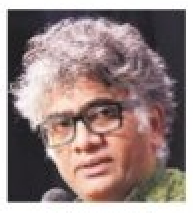
ED slaps ₹52 cr fine on Amnesty, ₹10 cr on Aakar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Enforcement Directorate has slapped ₹51.72 crore penalty on Amnesty India International Pvt Ltd (AIIPL) and ₹10 crore on the organization's former CEO Aakar Patel for allegedly violating India's foreign exchange law. "The adjudicating authority of the Directorate of Enforcement has adjudicated a show-cause notice issued to AIIPL and its CEO for contravention of the provisions of the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999," the ED said on Friday.

A show-cause notice under FEMA is a declaration of completion of probe and a penalty is sought to be slapped against the accused. The order of the adjudicating authority, a special director rank ED officer, can be challenged in the HC.



Aakar Patel

According to the ED, London-based Amnesty International has been sending "huge amounts" of foreign contribution to its Indian entities using the FDI route to escape FCRA scrutiny. The funds were used to expand Amnesty's social activities in India despite the Union home ministry's denial of prior registrations or permission to the organization and its trusts under FCRA, the ED added. The show-cause notice says the remittance received by AIIPL between November 2013 and June 2018 and claimed as receipt for business consultancy and PR services is "nothing but amount borrowed from overseas remitter", which is a FEMA violation.

Abe assassinated

Former navy personnel pulls the trigger of makeshift gun, arrested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

JAPAN'S powerful former prime minister Shinzo Abe was assassinated on Friday by a lone gunman who shot him from behind as he delivered a campaign speech ahead of parliamentary elections. That it happened in a nation with the strictest of gun control laws added to the global horror over the murder.

Abe, 67, collapsed and was airlifted to a nearby hospital in Nara. He was pronounced dead after receiving over 100 units of blood in transfusion for over four hours. The hospital said he suffered major damage to his heart, along with two neck wounds that damaged an artery.

Abe was Japan's longest-serving leader when he resigned in 2020 following multiple ailments. Though out of office, Abe headed its largest faction, Seiwakai, in the ruling Liberal Democratic Party.

That the assassin managed to get close to Abe before pulling the trigger, despite the former PM being accorded the highest security cover, told a tale of how porus the arrangement actually was.

Assailant Tetsuya Yamagami, 41, a former member of Japan's navy, was nabbed with a homemade 40 cm long gun. The police later seized similar weapons and his computer from one-room apartment. Yamagami confessed he had plotted the murder because he thought Abe was tied to an unnamed outfit he bore a grudge against. It was not a political murder.

Prime Minister Fumio Kishida called the attack dastardly and barbaric, while resolving to let the Sunday elections go ahead. The polls will choose members for Japan's upper house.

Abe hailed from a political family. His grandfather was former prime minister Nobusuke Kishi. At 52, Abe became Japan's youngest prime minister in 2006. In his second stint, he formulated what was called Abenomics, which combines fiscal stimulus, monetary easing and reforms to to pull the country out of deflation. P11

Rain fury: K'taka saw 12 deaths in 1 month

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA witnessed 12 deaths due to heavy rain across the state in the last one month, said Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday. In the wake of the Met department's forecast of heavy rain for the next three to four days, Bommai said he has directed officials to take precautionary measures.

"A task force will be working on it", he added.

Bommai said in cases of damage of houses, an immediate compensation of Rs 10,000 will be paid. Karnataka has potential to expand irrigation to 10 lakh hectares: Karjol

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

IRRIGATION Minister Govind Karjol said on Friday that Karnataka has the potential to expand irrigation to more than 10 lakh hectares of land and reiterated that the state government was firm on implementing the Mekedatu balancing reservoir project despite objection from neighbouring Tamil Nadu.

Accusing Tamil Nadu of coming in the way of Karnataka's irrigation projects by not sharing water, he said Karnataka has earmarked Rs 1,000 crore in the budget for Mekedatu project, Rs 5,000 crore for Upper Krishna Project and Rs 3,000 crore for the Yettinahole project.

Speaking after inaugurating a workshop on implementation of an emergency action plan for KRS, Kabini, Harangi and Chikkahole dams here, he stressed on people's participation in conservation of water and preservation of water bodies.

Karjol said there are 231 major and minor irrigation dams across the state through which 2,810 cusecs of water has been generated for irrigation on more than 30 lakh hectares of land which can be further expanded to 10 lakh hectares. The state has 64 lakh hectares of agricultural land and increase in irrigation area would empower the farming community and further contribute to food production. Lauding the erstwhile Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar of Mysuru royal family for constructing the Krishnaraja Sagar reservoir that has given a boost to irrigation in the region and also fulfilled drinking water needs of the people, he said that the government has in phases replaced sluice gates and the process will be completed soon that would put an end to wastage of water. CONTINUED ON: P4

HEBBAL FLYOVER CHANGES

Public, traffic experts give thumbs-down

Police should stop heavy trucks on such flyovers, says an expert

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FOR REPRESENTATION PURPOSE

A day after traffic police issued a statement on restrictions and diversions at Hebbal flyover, regular commuters taking the flyover to Kempegowda International Airport demanded that traffic police stand on the stretch and manage traffic, instead of issuing directions on paper.

Vehicles were banned from entering the flyover from the service road, however, commuters said only traffic cops can handle the changes made on Friday.

Amruthahalli resident Devaraj B, who takes the Hebbal flyover every day, said, "I took the service road to reach the city, as per the traffic police advisory, and saw few vehicles on the flyover. Since it is a bottleneck, similar traffic was seen ahead, near Mehkri Circle. I don't think it's a good idea and traffic police should ensure lane discipline on the flyover.

"On a social media group, resident welfare associations were discussing the flyover changes and raised a question: how come there is no traffic when VVIP/VIP convoys pass over the flyover, and policemen manage traffic. They should show the same interest for public movement," Devaraj added.

M N Srihari, an expert from Transportation Infrastructure Planning Systems, said the changes will not help free up traffic snarls. "Traffic authorities have not taken the opinion of qualified experts before implementing the change. Police should stop heavy trucks on such flyovers, and I have observed that they are not serious about stopping goods and heavy vehicles during the day," he said.

A senior officer from Hebbal Traffic Police Station said traffic was smooth after changes were implemented, and commuters had appreciated the system. "Since it was the first day, we had deployed 15 personnel to guide commuters," he said. However, there was traffic at the end of the flyover, as usual. Rajesh Kumar, a resident of Jakkur, said: "The authorities should consult residents and regular motorists before implementing any traffic diversion plans, or motorists will face severe hardship. They should come up with a permanent solution to decongest Hebbal, a major bottleneck as vehicles from all directions converge here.

MLA Zameer holds peace meet before Bakrid prayers at Idgah

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH Bakrid prayers to be offered at the contentious Chamarajpet Idgah Maidan, MLA BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan and other community leaders held a peace meeting to assuage the volatile situation over land ownership.

Stressing that the Maidan is in existence from 1871, and later in 1965 the land was gazetted to the Wakf Board, he said that the place belongs to all.

Former corporation member Chandrashekar said that the MLA has assured the place will always remain a playground. Another former corporation member BT Srinivas Murthy said that since Zameer took over as MLA, there has been no Hindu-Muslim riots.

Speaking at the meeting, Khan said ,"Everyone is speaking about saving the playground, I want to ask one thing: has the Palike, MLA, Wakf Board said about anything about it? I want to assure that till I die I will ensure this place to remain a playground and we ourselves hoist the Tricolour on Independence and Republic Days."

He pointed out that there is politics being stirred into the issue keeping the 2023 election in mind. "With regard to 2006 peace proceeding and permission for Ganesha and other events, the CM at that time did not give permission," Zameer said.

With regard to Chamarajpete Bandh call given by locals on July 12, he claimed he is not aware.

Meanwhile BBMP has stated that it requires time to decide on the ownership as the documents are being verified by legal department

Bike rally

Taking a dig at the MLA, former deputy Mayor and member of Chamarajpete Okkoota Samiti Rame Gowda said, "The MLA cannot hoodwink us. We strongly believe that the land belongs to Palike, and a public place. About 200 bikes would take out a rally. We have already distributed pamphlets in the area and the bandh would be peaceful."

Festival rush slows down traffic

BENGALURU: With two days to go for Bakrid, roads in RT Nagar, Jayamahal and near Chamarajpete Idgah Maidan saw huge traffic with goat and sheep traders camping with thousands of animals for sale. Traffic was crawling as customer gathered to purchase. People travelling on this stretch said that because the road was being upgraded and pipe work under progress on Jayamahal Road, the traders coming from Tumakuru, Kolar, Mandya, Nelamanala, Chikkaballapura, Chitradurga and other places have camped on the edge of the road, stifling traffic. "Jayamahal Road is known for various businesses as per season and since road asphalting work is taken up, the stretch at Doordarshan office witnesses slow traffic. We have deployed additional personnel to manage traffic," said a traffic police officer from RT Nagar sub-division. At Chamrajpete Idgah Maidan surrounding, people are parking the vehicles on the roadside.

As traders camp on roadsides with their herd of sheep, traffic moves at a snail's pace around RT Nagar, Jayamahal on Friday | VINOD KUMAR T

Zero admissions in 541 private PU colleges for 3 years

SHILPA P @ Bengaluru

AS many as 541 private PU colleges in the State, including 166 colleges in Bengaluru district, have recorded zero admissions in the past three years. Yet, they will get renewal of permission for admissions this year, considering the Covid pandemic situation, according to PU Education department director R Ramachandran.

He told TNIE that while colleges with zero admissions for three years are not permitted to continue, the PU department is granting exemption from this rule only for this year, considering the pandemic situation would have led to zero admissions. If colleges with zero admissions approach the department for renewal of permission, it would be granted, he said.

Asked for reasons for zero admissions in these colleges, a PU Board officer said, "Zero admissions could be because of high fees or lack of transport facilities. Also, students might have opted not to choose these colleges since they have shown low results in the previous years, or may be involved in some controversy."

09TH July : One last mention of Pisces, my current special sign. Browsing through my shelves the other day, I found a three-hundred year old book in which Piscean people were reputed to have 'a short Stature, a good large Face, palish Complexion, the Body fleshy or swelling, not very straight, but incurvating somewhat with the Head'. I'm not sure what that means. Or even if it's true!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
A number of energetic planets are simultaneously reaching the culmination of a monthly cycle of universal significance and completing an annual pattern in your personal affairs. The lesson for you is that relationships must be worked at. Remember, there is no magic formula.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Once in a while, a fantastic aspect makes it apparent that the time is right to leap ahead and get ten days' work, or play, accomplished in one. Today is one such day, but you'll have to pace yourself if you are not to fall at the first hurdle. You'll be no use to anyone if you're worn out.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Your salvation lies in human contact and warmth. There are three sectors of your chart dealing with other people, of which the two that now take your notice rule intimate romantic partn-ers and casual acquainta-nces. Professional colleagues - and partners with whom you share your daily routine - will have to wait their turn.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
It's an emotional day, and there'll be little time for rational thought. You are therefore likely to discover that all your words of wisdom have fallen on deaf ears. When it comes to money, you may wait a little longer, perhaps another three months, to make your fortune.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
You can remain silent no longer. You have no choice but to say your piece, but you may be pleasantly surprised when people stop and listen for a change. Emphasise adventurous plans and lay yourself on the line. You never know, you might actually discover hidden talents!

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The cosmos always has more tricks up its sleeve. Just when you thought you were on safe ground, in came more bills. Actually, today's strenuous planetary picture gives you the chance to do more than settle immediate accounts. You may, if you wish, take steps to guarantee your long- term security.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
This is a time to be more concerned with what has been built up over the years of toil and strife. Don't be too bothered by friction or tension at work or at home. Do take the opportunity to make a sort of personal new year's resolution, vowing to achieve a special ambition within the next twelve months.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
The time is finally here to think about restoring a sense of inner meaning to your daily affairs. You may consider it right and proper to encourage others to stand on their own two feet, but do offer any help that you can. After all, people who have been good to you deserve something in return, however, small.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
By rights you ought to have a free hand in affairs of the heart, but don't get so preoccupied with one person that you forget your friends. By the way, you should also be aware of the need for improvements in relations with children - and younger people in general.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It's a fine moment for some light relief. The only way to deal with tension that pervades the air today is to keep your sense of humour well to the fore and remind other people that events that seem like the end of the world will evoke laughter in times to come.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
It's time to stand up and be counted, so don't be ashamed to be an out and out idealist today. If others should ever accuse you of being impractical, so what? If they are that efficient, let them complete all the tasks which are a drain on your energy! You have bigger fish to fry.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It's a funny day - funny peculiar, that is. What others say or do may not make you jump for joy, but neither should you take them too seriously, for they'll probably change their minds tomorrow! If you feel put upon or unfairly blamed for matters which are not your fault, don't feel victimised!

Fake international call centre busted, 11 held

61 employees, including 30 women, have also been detained

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

Employees of the fake cyber call centre detained by the police on Thursday night

TWO branches of a Bengaluru-based fake international call centre located in Whitefield and Mahadevapura areas were raided by Whitefield Division police on charges of cheating US citizens by obtaining their bank details to siphon off their money. The police have arrested 11 people who are all from Ahmedabad in Gujarat and have recovered 238 desktop computers worth around Rs 2 crore.

Around 61 employees, including 30 women staff, have been detained. The search started at 10 pm on Thursday and went on till early Friday morning.

The fake company Ethical Info Co Pvt Ltd's branch on the first floor of Gayathri Tech Park in Whitefield and another branch at Silver Towers in Mahadevapura were raided. The company was running an organised fake cyber call centre.

The seized items worth Rs 2 crore include 127 desktops, four laptops, 150 headphones, 10 internal hard disks, three high-end cars, two school vans, one tempo traveller and Rs 18 lakh in cash. The accused were using school vans to transport the employees fearing that the fraudulent company would be caught if other transport vehicles were used. The employees worked during the night so as to target US nationals.

The 11 accused were acting at the behest of the kingpin who is a US national from California. They allegedly siphoned off millions of rupees from gullible victims. The police are now looking at the option of transferring the case to central investigating agencies as the main accused is a foreign national. The kingpin, after collecting data of US citizens, was sharing it with his Bengaluru associates. The team of 11 accused in Bengaluru were then making the employees call the US nationals. The employees were given ready-made scripts developed by the US national. The employees were divided into three levels. The first level collected the basic information of the victims, the mid-level obtained the account details and other sensitive information and the third level also known as the closure team trapped the victims. The salaries to the employees were being paid in cash. The kingpin who is on the run was making payments to his subordinates through hawala.

"The modus-operandi involved sending messages to potential targets through text messages and voice mails that a fraudulent/suspect transaction or purchase is noticed in one of their accounts such as a bank account or Amazon account and they are calling on behalf of Amazon or the bank to resolve the fraudulent transaction. They would zero in on gullible victims who trusted the callers and then pursue them till they part with their social security numbers, bank account details and siphon off money through various means including untraceable money transfer applications such as Amazon gift cards, crypto currency and even wire transfers," S Girish, Deputy Commissioner of Police, Whitefield Division, said.

The arrested are Pratik, Rishi Vyas, Syed, Parikh Biren, Karan, Jitiya Kishan, Hett Patel, Bihang, Raj Ialih Soni, Vishal Parmar and Mitesh Gupta. They were employing fresh graduates from various parts of the country including Gujarat, Maharashtra, Rajasthan, Haryana and Delhi. The callers mainly targeted US nationals.

Fate of employees

"The 61 employees will be made witnesses in the case and no cases will be registered against them. Most of them were not aware of the racket and were under the impression that they were working for US clients," the DCP added.

ED ORDER

HC asks Xiaomi to approach competent authority

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

DIRECTING Xiaomi Technology India to approach a competent authority to challenge the provisional attachment order passed by the Directorate of Enforcement (ED), which also seized its Rs 5,551.27 crore on April 29, the Karnataka High Court on Friday disposed of a petition filed by the telecom company.

Justice SG Pandit made it clear that the interim order will continue till the matter is decided by the competent authority under sub-Section (3) of Section 37-A of the Foreign Exchange Management Act.

The court stated in its interim order on May 5 that Xiaomi should operate the seized bank accounts only to meet its day-to-day expenses and not to make any payments to companies located outside India. On May12, it clarified that Xiaomi is at liberty to take overdraft and use it to pay foreign entities, excluding royalty.

The court directed the competent authority to pass an order either confirming or setting aside Xiamoi's seizure order within 60 days.

Xiaomi said that From 2016 to 2022, it has paid Rs 4,673.95 crore and Rs 877.31 crore to Qualcomm and Beijing Xiaomi Mobile Software Company, respectively, as royalty for use of patents, technology and other intellectual property.

ED contended that the petitioner purchases ready-to-sell mobiles from manufacturers based in India and sells them directly to distributors without adding any technology. It has not received any service/software/intellectual property rights/technology to pay royalty, the ED argued.

The court said the competent authority should decide whether the payments made by the petitioner to Qualcomm and its parent company could be considered as royalty or could attract Section 4 of FEMA.

Premature release of convicts: HC issues notice to govt

The Karnataka High Court on Friday issued a notice to the state government on a public interest litigation (PIL) questioning guidelines denying premature release of life term convicts who have completed 14 years. The petitioner contended that, currently, there exist numerous life convicts across prisons in Karnataka who have served substantial and lengthy periods of time beyond 14 years in jail and are continuing to be in custody as they are rendered ineligible to be considered for premature release by the impugned guidelines. Hearing the petition filed by Justice Initiative Foundation, a division bench of Acting Chief Justice Alok Aradhe and Justice J M Khazi issued a notice to the state government.

Rly official to look into YPR, Hosur train restoration

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru:

PASSENGERS impacted by the withdrawal of services of the train pair running between Yesvantpur and Hosur (Train Nos 76523/76524) have submitted a written request again to Bengaluru Divisional Railway Manager Shyam Singh, requesting its restoration. He was on an inspection visit to Hosur, in connection with the Baiyappanahalli-Hosur doubling project.

Negative surveys worry BJP think tank, meet to be held on July 14, 15

AS part of preparations for the 2023 Assembly polls, RSS leaders are scheduled to hold a two-day brainstorming session here on July 14 and 15 that is likely to be attended by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and BJP state president Nalin Kumar Kateel.

Significantly, Bommai visited RSS pramukhs Mukund and Sudheer among others at the RSS headquarters Keshavakrupa in Bengaluru on June 30 and held deliberations for about 45 minutes.

With back-to-back sample surveys not predicting a victory for BJP in the Assembly polls despite raking up sensitive issues like hijab and halal, the party's ideological wing RSS is worried. Its concern is also over leaders within the government failing to give a fitting reply to opposition leaders, especially Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah, who has been making scathing attacks on RSS.

The RSS will discuss several issues, including strategies, for the polls. The RSS leaders will also deliberate on what role the government, party, leaders and RSS have to play to win the crucial elections to retain power in the state, sources said. The issue related to the revision of textbooks by the Rohith Chakrathirtha committee and its repercussions are also likely to come up for discussion. A recent book on RSS by noted writer Devanuru Mahadeva may be discussed by the think tank to take a necessary action as it is critical of the organisation, the sources added.

Remedial measures that need to be taken to clear confusion on various issues and giving BJP workers responsibilities, especially appointments to boards and corporations, in the wake of polls will come up for discussion, the sources said.

RSS leaders, including Mukund, and BJP leaders, including Union minister Pralhad Joshi and BJP Karnataka in-charge Arun Singh, are likely to take part.

Siddu meets DKS over birthday bash

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CONGRESS Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah met KPCC president DK Shivakumar over his 75th birthday celebrations, Siddaramotsava, here on Friday.

After the meeting, Siddaramaiah, with Shivakumar sitting next to him, told the media, "There is no objection to the birthday celebration within the party. But certain sections of the media are trying to project it as controversial. It is not.''

Siddaramaiah said, "Did I call the event Siddaramotsava? It is Siddaramaiah-75 Amrut Mahotsava. It is not Siddaramaotsava. As far as the programme is concerned, there will certainly be a political message sent out. No one is a mendicant in politics."

"Is DK Shivakumar or Rahul Gandhi a Sanyasi? The event will definitely have a political message. Isn't listing our achievements during our five-year tenure politics? Isn't recalling my political journey politics," he asked in response to a question.

Siddaramaiah said both Shivakumar and he discussed party programmes and how to face the next Assembly elections.

"Leaders from the party are organising the birthday celebrations. The celebration committee has RV Deshpande as its chairman, KN Rajanna as president, Basavaraj Rayareddy as general secretary and Shamanuru Shivashankarappa and H C Mahadevappa as heads of the reception committee," he said.

Congress former president Rahul Gandhi, Shivakumar and senior leaders like Mallikarjun Kharge, BK Hariprasad, KH Muniyappa and MB Patil have been invited for the event, he added.

Shivakumar said his meeting with Siddaramaiah followed deliberations with party office-bearers to discuss certain programmes to be organised as per the directions of the All-India Congress Committee and how to take the party forward.

RAHUL'S PRESENCE AT SIDDU B'DAY BASH DEPENDS ON ED GRILLING OF SONIA

BENGALURU: Though Congress leader Rahul Gandhi has reportedly promised to take part in the 75th birthday celebration of Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah, slated for August 3, his participation may depend on how long the Enforcement Directorate continues its probe against his mother Sonia as fresh summons were issued to her to be present before the agency on July 31. Sonia and Rahul were issued summonses to appear before the investigating agency on June 23 in connection with The National Herald money laundering case. But as she was hospitalised due to Covid-related complications, she had sought deferment of the summons. Rahul, however, was grilled by ED for five days. A Congress leader said if the agency conducts a similar, lengthy questioning of Sonia, Rahul's plans of visiting Karnataka to take part in Siddaramaih's birthday celebrations may be disrupted. "But he will try his best to attend the event as he is on good terms with Siddaramaiah," he added. Interestingly, KPCC president DK Shivakumar will also be present before ED in the national capital on July 31 in a separate money laundering case. ENS

CM: Arogya Sanjeevini to be extended to pensioners

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE state government is planning to extend Arogya Sanjeevini, a free health coverage policy, to retired employees of state government. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday said he will discuss it with the Finance Department and announce the decision soon.

Speaking at the golden jubilee celebrations of the Karnataka State Retired Government Employees Association in Bengaluru, Bommai said that the health policy now covers only those who are in service.

Association president L Byrappa said the state has 4.2 lakh pensioners and 1.5 lakh who get family pension (spouses of deceased retired employees). "The CM has promised to include them in the Arogya Sanjeevini policy, which is a cashless service, where one can get treated at government and private hospitals,'' he said.

He also said they have requested the government to hike the pension by 10 per cent for those who are over 70 years old. At present, retired employees of the central government are entitled to the health scheme benefits.

Political leaders scared of Lokayukta, says MLC

MYSURU: Stating that political leaders are "scared" of the Lokayukta, MLC A H Vishwanath said this is why all the three major political parties in the state have failed to give more teeth to the anti-corruption watchdog. Speaking to reporters here on Friday, he said the orders of High Court have set a good precedent of putting IAS and IPS officers behind bars. "High Court judge justice HP Sandesh has clearly said he will bell the cat even at the cost of his judgeship, which has reinstalled confidence among the general public and people about the judiciary. I congratulate him for being so vocal. When the legislative and executive has failed, the judiciary has shown its responsibility," he said. "Former PM Moraji Desai recommended establishment of Lokpal in the centre and Lokayukta in states so that they can take action against the corrupt. But they have become a toothless tiger now. Full strength, power and autonomy must be given to the Lokayukta," he said. ENS

Hindu outfit demands Jnanendra's resignation

SHIVAMOGGA: Members of the Hindu Jagran Vedike on Friday threatened to protest demanding the resignation of Home Minister Araga Jnanendra after a video went viral of him speaking "disrespectfully" to murdered Bajrang Dal activist Harsha's sister when she met him in Bengaluru. Harsha's sister, Ashwini, met the minister to ask him about action taken against officials of Parappana Agrahara Central Jail who have allegedly provided special privileges to the accused in the case. A video had gone viral on social media of the accused purportedly talking over mobile phones and making video calls from inside the prison. Vedike state coordinator Satish Davanagere said on Friday that they will protest in front of the DC's office here on Saturday. "If the home minister cannot initiate action to stop exploitation and murders of Hindus, then he is not fit to hold the post anymore and should resign," he said. ENS

Khader seeks clarity on animal sacrifice

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

MLA and deputy leader in the Assembly UT Khader on Friday said the government, in its order, has stated that buffaloes over 14 years old can be slaughtered. "Let the government clarify whether these buffaloes can be considered for sacrifice during Bakrid," he replied to a query from media persons on MLA Bharat Shetty's statement to seize the property of cattle traffickers. He urged people not to take law into their hands and added even the Ulemas have said the same.

On Siddaramotsava, Khader said the programme is a symbol of unity of Congress leaders and BJP is not able to tolerate it.

Khader said threatening a High Court judge after he ordered a thorough probe into the PSI scam is a serious matter. "The High Court ordered a probe after pulling up the ACB. As the Opposition party, Congress demanded a fair probe, but the home minister and the government claimed that everything was okay and there were no irregularities in PSI recruitment. The government has failed in delivering justice to candidates who were selected. At this juncture, the judge who pulled up the government was threatened to be transferred, which is unfortunate," he said.

Sinha could not meet Gowda, can Murmu?

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

AS the NDA candidate for the July 18 presidential polls, Droupadi Murmu, is scheduled to visit Bengaluru on Sunday as part of her campaign, speculation is rife whether she will call on former prime minister and JDS patriarch HD Deve Gowda.

Sources said Murmu's schedule is packed as she will be busy attending the BJP legislators' and MPs' meeting. If she finds time and Gowda gives her an appointment, she may meet him. Otherwise, she will speak to him over phone as a courtesy as he has already extended his moral support to her, the sources added.

Gowda has assigned the job of addressing the issue of presidential polls to his son and senior JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy, who will take a final decision on extending the party's support to Murmu.

Soon after being chosen a candidate, Murmu spoke to Gowda over phone and he reportedly extended his moral support.

When she sought an appointment to meet him during her visit to Bengaluru, he is said to have told her it is not necessary. He also reportedly told Murmu that her candidature is suitable and non-controversial.

In fact, when West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerejì called a meeting of non-NDA parties in New Delhi on June 15, both Gowda and Kumaraswamy attended and promised to support the candidate backed by opposition parties.

But things started changing after BJP declared Murmu as its candidate against combined opposition nominee Yashwant Sinha. Sinha, who was in Bengaluru recently, attended the Congress Legislature Party meeting and got the support of party MLAs. But he returned to New Delhi without meeting Gowda.

Sinha was not on good terms with Gowda for a long time which was why the meeting did not materialise. This despite Telangana CM K Chandrashekar Rao, who shares a good relationship with Gowda, backing Sinha to the hilt, the sources said.

Officials to face music for poor quality food in anganwadis

HASSAN: Women and Child Welfare Minister Halappa Achar on Friday minced no words while warning officials that they will face the music if poor quality foodgrains and vegetables are found in the food prepared for children in anganwadis, from where food is supplied to pregnant women too. After a review meeting here, he said central and state governments are allocating huge grants for the welfare of women and children. "The funds should be utilised properly. There are complaints of fund misuse and supply of substandard groceries to anganwadis in various districts. Senior officials have been directed to conduct inquiries on these complaints," he said. His department is also thinking of supplying foodgrains and nutritional food directly to the doorsteps of pregnant women in a few districts. ENS

Raita Sena Karnataka members submit a memorandum to CM Basavaraj Bommai

Mahadayi agitators meet CM, Opposition leaders

ENS @Hubballi

FOLLOWING a request from Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, a 25-member delegation of Raita Sena Karnataka met him in Bengaluru on Friday and discussed their demands, including early implementation of the Mahadayi river diversion project.

The delegation also met opposition leaders Siddaramaiah and HD Kumaraswamy and submitted a memorandum to them raising the same points.

Raita Sena members have been staging an indefinite dharna in front of the Karnataka Neeravari Nigam Ltd office since June 20. Apart from the Mahadayi project, they are demanding a CBI probe into alleged irregularities in the KNNM and setting up of permanent procurement centres to purchase produce directly from farmers.

Raita Sena president Veeresh Sobaradmath told TNIE that Bommai assured them of getting clearances and that work on diversion of Kalasa stream to Malaprabha river will start soon.

On financial irregularities in KNNL, they demanded that the CM transfer the officials who have been working in the same place for years and are responsible for siphoning off hundreds of crores of rupees.

Minister urges farmers to vacate encroached canals

THE minister said that the old crest gates should be exhibited at a museum to make people understand the technology that was adopted a century ago instead of discarding it as scrap.

Karjol regretted that farmers and people have encroached reservoir bends, feeder canals and irrigation canals and urged them to vacate the facilities for encouraging conservation.

Hinting that Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai will make more announcements during his visit to KRS to offer bagina in the brimming reservoir next week, he assured that more funds would be released for the development and facelift of Brindavan Garden, a sought-after tourist destination in Mysuru.

He said that musical fountains will also be replaced in the days to come.

Srirangapatna MLA Ravindra Srikantaiah said that thousands of people living in villages close to the Cauvery are worst affected by floods over the years and have lost their crops, property and houses as the irrigation officials for dam safety release heavy discharge of water into the river that has affected Mandya, Koppal, Doddapalya, Chikka Palya, Ganjam, a few wards of Srirangapatna town and other places.

Stressing on the need to construct protective walls all along Cauvery river in Srirangapatna taluk, he said the KRS reservoir is safe and strong and slammed MP Sumalatha for expressing fear on the safety of the reservoir that had created panic among the farmers.

₹132 cr okayed for shoes, socks to 48L school kids

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE state government, which was criticised for not providing shoes and socks to government school students even seven weeks after classes started, announced on Friday that it will supply the essentials to schoolchildren immediately.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said Rs 132 crore has been allocated to distribute shoes and socks to children. Around 48 lakh students study in government schools across the state.

The government has already approved funds for uniforms, but since they take some time to be ready, they will be distributed later, he said. "There is no need for any confusion."

The order comes two days after Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah lashed out at the government for not taking care of the needs of government schoolchildren. In a series of tweets, he said, "While the 'vicious gang' of government ministers, ruling party leaders and officials are indulging in a commission racket and looting the state exchequer, government is playing with the future of schoolchildren by not providing textbooks, bicycles, shoes, socks."

He said, "Some schools have old textbooks, some schools have new textbooks, while others don't have textbooks at all.''

Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee president DK Shivakumar too had slammed the government, saying it does not have the money to provide basic essentials to children. He said he would "go out and beg or borrow" to raise the required funds.

Bommai said Shivakumar has been talking about raising funds for students by seeking alms "Earlier, during Covid times, too, he wanted to get funds by begging. But where is the money," he asked sarcastically.

Shivakumar had made the statement after Primary and Secondary Education Minister BC Nagesh had said children go to school to study and not to get shoes and socks.

Nagesh on Friday said the required funds will be channelled through the School Development and Monitoring Committee.

The uncertainty over who would triumph in the AIADMK leadership fight between Edappadi K Palaniswami and O Panneerselvam continued as the Madras HC on Friday reserved its order on a civil suit filed by AIADMK coordinator OPS seeking a stay on the general council meeting on July 11

Jagan's mother quits party to back daughter

YS Vijayamma hugs her son Jagan Mohan Reddy after her address | EXPRESS

YS Vijayamma, mother of Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy, resigned from the post of honorary president of YSRC, to support her daughter YS Sharmila who floated the YSR Telangana Party in neighbouring Telangana to fulfil the aspirations of her father late YS Rajasekhara Reddy.

Sharmila had floated the YSRTP in Telangana against the wishes of her brother, and kept a distance as he wanted to maintain cordial relations with the neighbouring state.

"Sharmila floated the party as the daughter-in-law of Telangana. There is need for me to support and stand behind my daughter. As the wife of Rajasekhara Reddy and mother of Sharmila, it's my responsibility to support her," she explained on the first day of the plenary.

Clarifying that she had decided to quit to avoid trouble for her children and put an end to controversies surrounding her post in both parties, Vijayamma said, "Sharmila is fighting to establish a Rajanna Rajyam in Telangana. I have decided to support her fight and my blessings would always be with Jagan Mohan Reddy as his mother."

Vijayamma also expressed anguish over the release of a fake resignation letter on social media prior to her decision to resign and said it is unfortunate that some elements are showing overenthusiasm to spread lies about her family.

She said she had always supported both her son and daughter for their bright future. "Now a time has come where Sharmila has to raise voice in the interest of Telangana while Jagan Mohan Reddy has to speak in support of Andhra Pradesh. As the Chief Minister and president of YSRC, Jagan Mohan Reddy should have a clear stand. I never imagined such a situation would ever arise and I don't know why it happened, but I feel it is a decision of God," she said. Vijayamma went on to add that Reddy has proved his mettle as the CM and exuded confidence that he would come back to power again. "It is not right to hold the post of honorary president of one party and campaign for another. I had come to a decision that I resign as to YSRC," Vijayamma said amid the crowd shouting 'no'.

RED ALERT FOR 14 DISTS IN T'GANA

This is the first time this season that the IMD has issued a red alert. The forecast attributed the weather condition to cyclonic circulation over northwest and adjoining west central Bay of Bengal off south Odisha and north Andhra Pradesh coasts.

School bus with 30 kids gets stuck in underpass

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mahabubnagar

ALERT villagers prevented a certain tragedy on Friday, safely rescuing 30 schoolchildren who were trapped in their school bus after its engine stalled while crossing an inundated railway underpass.

The bus was on its way to Bhashyam Techno School located on the outskirts of Mahabubnagar town after picking up students from Sugurugadda thanda, Ramachandrapuram and other villages when it reached the railway underpass being constructed underneath the railway line near the Manyamkonda railway station in Mahabubnagar rural mandal.

The driver of the bus did not expect the downpour of Thursday night to have flooded the underpass and failed to gauge the water level. The engine was submerged and it stalled. All this while, water level kept rising.

Seeing the water level rising, the schoolchildren started screaming. They were heard by locals who sprung into action and formed a line leading to the bus. One person entered the bus and passed the children (mostly aged between 5 and 10), one by one, to the next person till all of them were safe.

The villagers then pressed a tractor into service, to tow the bus out of the floodwater.

The underpass is not meant to be inundated, but being still under construction, a water drainage system has not been installed. Meanwhile, Excise Minister V Srinivas Goud blamed the railway authorities for leaving the underpass works incomplete, and improper drainage system. He telephoned the chief engineer of railways and urged him to visit the spot and ensure flood water drainage works are completed.

Two weeks ago, a similar incident occurred at a railway underpass in Merangapalli village in Vikarabad district.

A red alert has been declared in Dakshina Kannada till Saturday and the educational institutions have been declared holiday. On Friday, there was continuous rain till afternoon and by evening it receded.

In Moodbidri, an arecanut farm collapsed and a house is in danger. The soil of the farm belonging to Prashanth and Rajesh slipped and the house may collapse anytime. More than 100 arecanut trees got completely destroyed, incurring a loss up to ₹25 lakh. The family had vacated the house fearing landslide. There was a landslide in Sullia also.

A newly built concrete road got completely damaged in Batrakodi near Bondel in Mangaluru. The road built five months ago developed cracks as there is no proper facility for the rainwater to flow. Meanwhile, a huge tree fell on a road at Kottara Guttu in the city, disrupting traffic for almost three hours.

Meanwhile, the local authorities are filling up the chasm that was created by the a culvert getting washed away, leaving a portion of the Adyapady main concrete road in a suspended state towards Mangalore Airport. The authorities have since demolished this portion of concrete road and have started the work of filling the 8 metres wide chasm with huge rock boulders. This work has been going on since yesterday. The distance from the centre of runway of MIA to the inner retaining wall is around 75 metres and there is a buffer of additional 25 metres to the perimeter wall, which rests on a retaining wall that itself is constructed on a solid foundation. There is no danger to the runway and operations are going on normally, airport authorities said in a release.

Meanwhile, several families in Kannur are in danger following the landslide.

THE CM also said that details of measures taken should be uploaded on Rajiv Gandhi Housing Corporation app. "As it is raining, the survey cannot be taken up at present. Once rain subsides, survey will be conducted immediately and report should be submitted without any delay," he added.

There are State Disaster Response Force (SDRF) and National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) teams working in many districts including Kodagu and Dakshina Kannada. Bommai said he has directed the Public Works Department (PWD) and Rural Development and Panchayat Raj (RDPR) officials to provide details of road damage. Managing Directors of various Escoms have been told to get the electric poles restored wherever they have fallen. At villages, there is a task force comprising officials from revenue, police, education and RDPR departments which has to assist people and work in co-ordination. The DCs will be monitoring the work being undertaken.

A total sum of Rs 735 crore is available with the DCs to take up rescue and relief operations. At coastal areas, measures will be taken up for emergency rescue where coastal erosion is happening. He also said steps are being taken to set up a control room to respond to people in distress. Police personnel have been directed to be available round-the-clock.

On opening of Kohinoor dam in Maharashtra, the CM said the dam is not full yet. Also, state-owned Ghataprabha, Malaprabha and other dams are also not full. "I have directed officials to coordinate with Maharashtra on opening of dam gates," he added.

Worms in rice, no pillows or fans: Upa Lokayukta finds hostel for girls a mess

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE recent surprise visit by Upa Lokayukta Justice KN Phaneendra to the Post-Matric Girls Hostel in Ramanagara, around 50km from Bengaluru, exposed the plight of 80 inmates who were given poor quality food, had abysmal infrastructure, and were ill-treated. He initiated suo motu proceedings against the authorities for corrective measures.

The inmates complained that they were not provided sufficient quantity or quality food, and often were given only rice which was sticky and had worms in it. If the girls pointed it out, they were told to throw the food and eat at Indira canteens. In fact, one student was made to starve the whole day, the girls complained to the Upa Lokayukta.

The girls also revealed that idli/dosa was not prepared, on the pretext that there was no grinder, and they were not given biscuits or rusk in the evening as per menu, though the hostel authorities had raised bills for them.

The girls also pointed out that there were few washrooms, and the doors had no locks, there was acute shortage of water, and fans in the dormitories did not work. They were not given sanitary pads/napkins and neither were incinerators installed. The computers given to them are not functional.

"I could see that the steel cots were rattling even with a gentle touch," Upa Lokayukta Phaneendra said, adding that the food provided is not sufficient for growing teenagers.

He noted that the cots were not properly fixed, bedsheets and pillows were not provided to the girls and the warden was demanding Rs 100 per day to allow the students to stay. Frequent power outage due to non-payment of bills to Bescom had affected the girls' studies. The staff hired for cooking were not paid salaries regularly, he said in an order.

Noting that the hostel administration was abysmal, he issued 15 guidelines to the Social Welfare and Backward Classes and Minorities Departments, to address the grievances not only of this hostel, but to check other hostels too. He also directed all Lokayukta SPs to visit hostels periodically.

ONE RESIGNATION MANY LESSONS ON POLITICAL TACT

The recent resignation of Kerala minister Saji Cherian following his controversial speech ridiculing the Constitution of India has lessons for all public servants. From the need for a clear perspective on the social and political realities of the country to knowing the intricacies of new modes of communication, the inglorious exit of a performing minister in the Pinarayi Vijayan cabinet packs several valuable messages to those in public life. Notwithstanding his feeble slip-of-the-tongue defence, anyone who listened to Cherian's speech would easily decipher that he belittled the Constitution that his party, the CPM, often cites to oppose and criticise the policies and actions of the Narendra Modi government.

For the record, the recently concluded 22nd party congress of the CPM passed a resolution that accused the Modi government of "undermining the foundations of our secular democratic Constitution", and called for all patriots to unite and defend the Constitution that faced "a serious threat from Hindutva forces." Cherian's allegation that the Constitution condoned exploitation and Indian members of the Constituent Assembly wrote what the British rulers dictated to them stems from ignorance. The debate about the Indian Constitution being un-Indian was addressed in detail and resolved by the Constituent Assembly itself. There is also the ethical question of discrediting the very Constitution he swore allegiance to while taking the oath of office. The delay in making the adamant Cherian quit office gave the opposition ample time to attack the government and score political points. But it is appreciable that the CPM did not allow the minister to get away with the misdemeanour.

The key takeaway from the episode is the need for public workers to understand the unbridled power of social media. The minister uttered the words to a private audience at an event without the media's presence. The organisers broadcast the speech live on Facebook and the media picked it up soon after. With every person armed with a smartphone having the potential to reach out to millions, public servants should realise that they are under surveillance round-the-clock. Cherian, apart from being disrespectful to the Constitution he was supposed to uphold, was careless and paid the price.

UDDHAV'S PARTY IS ALSO TARGET

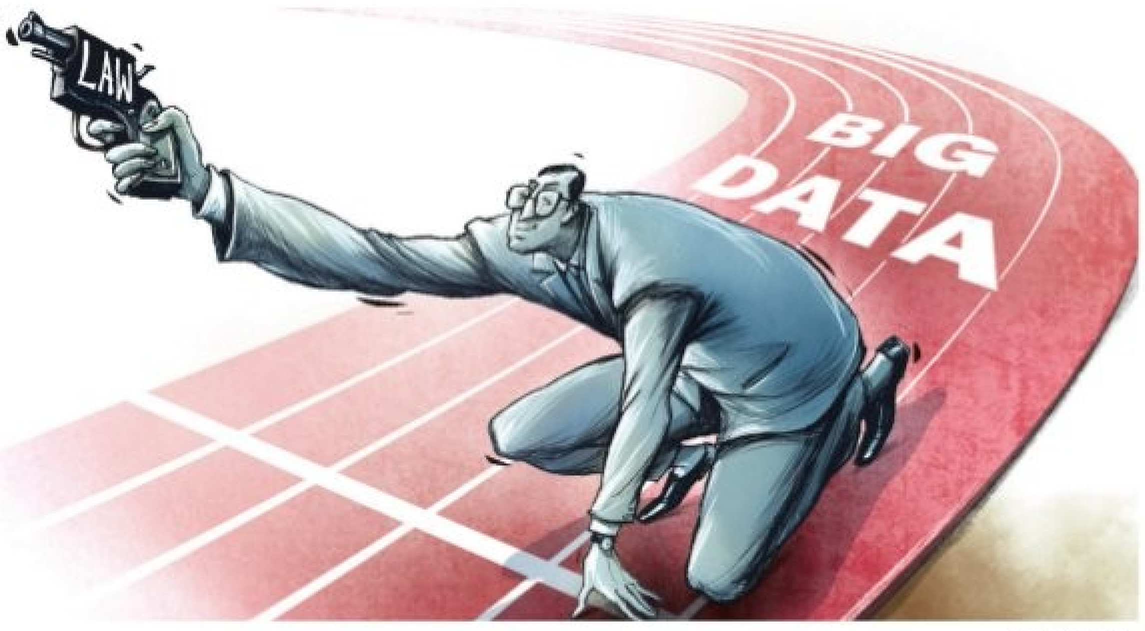
Shiv Sena rebel Eknath Shinde replaced Uddhav Thackeray as chief minister of Maharashtra with the help and guidance of the BJP, the 'junior' partner in the new government. The long-standing BJP-Shiv Sena alliance originally collapsed over the BJP's refusal to leave the chief minister's post to the Sena. It did not want to play the role of junior partner because it won more assembly seats than the Sena in the last elections. Then why did the BJP join the Shinde government as a junior partner now? The BJP wanted to pull down the Uddhav government for betraying it and joining hands with its rivals. But this gives the party only partial satisfaction.

There is more to the BJP's plan for Maharashtra. It would not want to continue playing junior partner to Eknath Sinde for long. Behind the short-term arrangement is the party's apparent grand design of finishing off the Shiv Sena and absorbing its remnants and leaving no challenger for its core Hindutva vote. Shinde is the weapon in this battle. The new chief minister has his job cut out. It is more political than administrative. He has to chip away at the Sena leadership and cadre, bit by bit. After taking control of the Shiv Sena legislature party, Shinde got almost all the Sena corporators in the Thane Municipal Corporation to desert the parent party and join him.

The real battle, however, will be to wrest control of the Shiv Sena name and the party symbol. This would require the support of the majority party members in Parliament and the National Executive. Shinde may or may not succeed in achieving this. But he would certainly make a bid to gain control of the Bombay Municipal Corporation, which the Thackeray Family considers its cash cow. Even if Shinde fails to formally take over the Shiv Sena, he would have served the BJP's purpose if he weakens the Thackeray family politically and chokes its source of funds.

The issue boils down to conduct and restrictive business practices, interpreted as access to data, forcible data sharing, data portability and algorithmic transparency

BINDING BIG DATA TO A STATUTE NOT EASY TASK



SOUMYADIP SINHA

BIBEK DEBROY

Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to the PM

Perfect competition is a hypothetical construct. The heroic assumptions of perfect competition are such that rarely will we find examples of perfect competition in the real world, not even in agricultural markets. The pure competitive model is a figment of the imagination. It only exists in text books of economics. We do, however, have a theory of perfect competition, perhaps I should say the theory of perfect competition.

A monopoly is also exceedingly rare, though not non-existent. In a similar vein, we have the theory of monopoly. In reality, we confront markets that do not possess attributes of perfect competition. Nor are they examples of monopolies.

There is no 'the' theory of imperfect competition or imperfect monopoly. There are multiple theories. Hence, when policy uses the lens of either perfect competition or perfect monopoly, there can be errors of judgements. In passing, the answer is contingent on the definition of a 'market'. A market is a theoretical construct. It is not a 'mandi' one walks into. One of the key assumptions in theoretical expositions of perfect competition is a homogeneous and undifferentiated product, where products are perfect substitutes for each other. For example, one might argue that there are only two cola manufacturers in the world or only two aircraft manufacturers in the world. As these examples illustrate, it isn't that simple.

There is a certain approach more advanced economies have taken towards monopoly, competition, anti-trust and development of efficiency and competitive markets. For various reasons, there are economies where markets generally exist. Will the approach be different in an emerging economy like India, where markets don't generally exist? Does the government have a role in creating the market? SEBI's role is a case in point. If the government, that is, a public entity, has a role in creating the market as a producer, is there a potential conflict between the role as a producer and the role as a regulator?

There is often a conflict between consumer interests and anti-trust policies and one shouldn't brush this tension under the carpet. For instance, are predatory pricing or dumping through exports (imports) bad? The answer is not as obvious as we think. Both are good for consumers. They lead to lower prices. It is possible this is only true in the short run. Once competition has been driven out, in the longer run, prices might increase. That may be possible, even plausible, but it is not axiomatic. Economists distinguish between ex ante (in advance) and ex post (afterward, subsequently). Ex ante, in these cases, we do not know. We will only know ex post.

Historically, anti-trust policies have based themselves on SCP—structure, conduct and performance. Of these, structure and market shares have been the historical obsession. We used to think of natural monopolies, where the attribute of the market was such that there couldn't be more than one producer. Thanks to technological advances and possibilities of unbundling, most such instances of national monopolies no longer exist. Railways or electricity are instances. If monopolies exist, that's because government policies mandate it. As an example, issuing currency, fiat money, is a monopoly, because only Central banks are allowed to perform that function. In the absence of licensing that prevents entry, why should we be bothered about market shares and structure? A new entry will whittle down high existing market shares. Market shares aren't static. They are dynamic. An enterprise's action can certainly prevent entry. That's the reason we talk of restrictive business practices. But that's the domain of policies about conduct, not structure. The only limited counter-argument, ex ante, about the consequences of structure is that ex post costs of breaking up an enterprise may be very high. Hence, prior approval for mergers and acquisitions.

Does the government have a role in creating the market? SEBI's role is a case in point. If the government, that is, a public entity, has a role in creating the market as a producer, is there a potential conflict between the role as a producer and the role as a regulator?

The ex ante versus ex post dilemma becomes even more pronounced for something like big data, with avowed economies of scale and scope, network effects and feedback loops. Is the regulatory focus consumer protection or anti-trust? Consider the third strand of the SCP paradigm, performance, defined in terms of price or profitability metrics. In any event, as with structure, creative destruction whittles down high prices and profitability. There are indeed consumer issues, privacy, ownership, etc. But beyond this, is there any empirical data to demonstrate that big data harms consumer welfare? Not quite, because consumer data has been monetized and charges imposed on intermediaries. What does it mean to look at non-price aspects in performance? Are these sufficiently objective and transparent?

As with traditional sectors, for big data too, the issue boils down to conduct and restrictive business practices, interpreted as access to data, forcible data sharing, data portability and algorithmic transparency. In evolving jurisprudence, one should be clear about what one is regulating and why. There is a danger of presuming, ex ante, knowledge about the dynamics of competition, thereby stifling innovation and efficiency in the process. In addition, when the nature of big data is cross-border, regulation is not easy to enforce.

Consumer interests are different. But anti-trust regulation is warranted only in instances of demonstrated market failure. For big data, the theoretical or empirical literature is not very convincing, not yet. The evolving jurisprudence in advanced economies, which varies, needs to be viewed in that light. Given the history of excessive State intervention in India, it is best to be cautious and hesitant. Regulation is not as neutral as we think it is. It is also subject to lobbying and regulatory capture.

PEDAGOGY IS THE BANE OF OUR EDUCATION SYSTEM

ASHOKE K MAITRA

Founder Sri Ramakrishna International Institute of Management

Global research in learning demonstrates that children or adults learn best when encouraged to be part of the learning process and not reduced to being passive listeners.

The dominant form of instruction in the education system across India is instructor-led and didactic, using lectures primarily as a method of instruction. The student is expected to listen and take notes. The teacher plays an active role and the student plays a passive role. This is a hierarchical construct.

In addition, in schools and colleges, different subjects are taught for 40 minutes a day. The child in a class may study English for 40 minutes in the first period, then Math, followed by Social Studies, Hindi, etc. After a one-hour lunch recess, other subjectsCivics, Biology, Physics, and so on—are taught in four more periods.At the end of the school day, the students are given some homework to answer by recalling what they were taught. This is a routine exercise to internalise the content.

Kindly reflect on how much can a child internalise and retain after being taught eight subjects on the trotin 40-minute periods in a day.

The lack of learning in schools has allowed private coaching classes to evolve as unavoidable after-schools to re-teach the same subjects but one by one. The difference between a normal school and a coaching class is significant. In the coaching class,only one subject is taken up at a time for maybe 2–3 hours. They offer students several practice sessions and also give them videos and pen drives to take home and listen to and learn.

Every year, lakhs of students walk through them, fueling the industry's annual revenues to upwards of ₹24,000 crore—the estimate in 2015 by a government-appointed committee. Its annual growth to double digits, as aspirations outpace seats.

In another dimension, contrast this with children from poor and marginalized backgrounds. They can rarely access either a good institution or finances to enroll in coaching classes. Even if such children surmount these problems, they are unsure of getting a reasonably productive education.

Professor Jude Henriques of Tata Institute of Social Science did a comparative study of children from municipal schools and children from affluent families going to elite schools in Mumbai.His research demonstrated that the poor students of the municipal schools had equal or more IQ and were as sincere and committed to studies as any other child of a rich family. However, he found that 70% of poor children dropped out after class 10.

In 2001, as the Director of Times Foundation, I embarked on a Teach India Campaign to provide remedial education to the children of municipal schools in Maharashtra.The thenPresident, A P J Abdul Kalam, flagged off the campaign. We empanelled 5 lakh barefoot teachers to teach students on the streets, in their homes, almost anywhere,using a creative methodology. More than 70% of the students did well and got first-class marks.

The National Education Policy 2020 addresses the concerns I have raised very succinctly. The NEP 2020 says, "Education thus, must move towards less content, and more towards learning about how to think critically and solve problems, how to be creative and multidisciplinary, and how to innovate, adapt, and absorb new material in novel and changing fields".

Underprivileged children must get access to education in their village and the spending on education in the budget should increase. A poor child, in today's system, can hardly succeed if she/he has little access to quality education or private tuition. This is unequal education

Addressing pedagogy, the policy says it must "evolve to make education more experiential, holistic, integrated, inquiry-driven, discovery-oriented, learner-centered, discussion-based, flexible, and, of course, enjoyable". It must do everything to empower teachers and help them to do their job as effectively as possible. The policy recognizes that the teacher must be at the "centre of the fundamental reforms in the education system".

The policy underlines that "education must build character and enable learners to be ethical, rational, compassionate, and caring, while at the same time preparing them for gainful, fulfilling employment".

Students must be introduced to values like "quality, equity and integrity" right from elementary education levels, going up the ladder to higher education. This can be achieved, as the policy says, by bridging "the gap between the current state of learning outcomes and what is required"by undertaking reforms. The new education policy "must provide to all students, irrespective of their place of residence and economic or social status, a quality education system, with particular focus on historically marginalised, disadvantaged, and under-represented groups".

The real issues the NEP 2020 has recognised are:

One is pedagogy of instruction. Teachers will need to use more experiential learning techniques than just giving lectures. They must use Film, Role Plays, Demonstration, and Simulation to improve the internalization of learning and make it more enjoyable. This means teachers need to be re-trained and the B.Ed syllabus needs to change. The days of simply professing professors or lecturing lecturers have gone.

Education must build character and competence and offer students values, make them compassionate, caring, loving and not just competitive. Gurudev Rabindra Nath Tagore did such an experiment in Shanti Niketan which has become the Vishwa Bharati University and Jiddu Krishnamurthy tried a somewhat different experiment in Rishi Valley School.

Underprivileged children must get access to education in their village and the spending on education in the budget should increase. A poor child, in today's system, can hardly succeed if she/he has little access to quality education or private tuition. This is unequal education.

If the above is done, some improvement will happen.

R.I.P Abe

It was shocking to hear that Shinzo Abe, former Prime Minister of Japan, was assassinated. One's heart goes out to his grieving family and the people of Japan. He was a good friend of our country.

Maintain friendship

This is with reference to the news BoJo going, going, gone (July 8). Boris Johnson's resignation as the leader of the Conservative Party may be followed by his resignation as the prime minister. This would mark the end of an era where India and Britain maintained close partnership. It is hoped that his successor would also continue to strengthen the friendship between the two countries.

Helping Tiruppur

This is with reference to the editorial Investment focus in Tamil Nadu yields results (July 7). The state gets good foreign exchange revenue from the garments industry in Tiruppur but at the cost of the environment. In order to solve the issues, the state government should allot land, transportation and electricity connection as soon as possible. There needs to be transparency in this process as well.

Bad alternatives

Apropos of Cost of living goes up as LPG price hiked yet again (July 7). BJP leaders use the term "double-engine growth" quite often. Most people do not understand this phrase. But the rise in the cost of daily necessities is burdening citizens. The BJP remains in power because the lack of unity among opposition parties makes them a bad alternative.

Best wishes to Usha

The Padma Shri awardee and Arjuna Award winner P T Usha is nominated as a member of the Upper House. The first Indian woman athlete to reach the final of an Olympics event will now hopefully be addressing the concerns of sportspersons in the country.

Justice for Fr Stan

Apropos of US resolution on Father Stan Swamy (July 7). That the alliance of an aggressive NIA, a non-humanitarian government and a passive judiciary caused the death of Fr Stan Swamy, is an open secret. The mouth of global democracy, especially of the US, has begun to speak.

From Pacific to Indian Ocean, India owes its significance to Abe

For India, the former Japan PM will remain a special leader. His fondness for India and his vision for bilateral ties have been central to his vision of Indo-Pacific

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

FIGURATIVELY, the Pacific never came as close to the Indian Ocean as it did almost a decade back in the realm of geostrategic realities. Former Japan PM Shinzo Abe, who was assassinated on Friday, had not only envisioned it years ago, but also helped define it in the four-country security construct the Quad (the Quadrilateral Security Dialogue encompassing the US, Australia, Japan and India), which Beijing distinctly fears. Abe thus endeared himself to New Delhi, bringing PM Modi to call him a "dear friend, who will always be the face of India-Japan friendship."

The Japanese leader recognized India's importance as a democratic balancer to China's dominance in the Indo-Pacific integration efforts. "He made an immense contribution to elevating India-Japan relations to the level of a special strategic and global partnership. Today, India mourns with Japan and we stand in solidarity with our Japanese brothers and sisters in this difficult moment,'' said Modi.

As a mark of respect, India has declared a one-day national mourning on Saturday.

Modi was clearly nostalgic about his last interaction with Abe. "During my recent visit to Japan, I had the opportunity to meet Abe again and discuss many issues. He was witty and insightful as always. Little did I know that this would be our last meeting,'' PM Modi said. Post-war Japan has been a pacifist democracy. However, the rise of China as a military and economic power has posed an existential threat to Japan. Abe, first as a member of the Japanese Parliament, the Diet, and later as Chief Cabinet Secretary under PM Junichiro Koizumi in 2005 and as PM a year later, articulated that concern, as China began its aggressive expansion in the South China Sea. Abe's role in the security of the Indo-Pacific region, while ensuring a free trade route based, has been one of his most significant global contributions.

Former permanent representative of India to the United Nations, Syed Akbaruddin, fondly recalls the Abe-Modi meeting in New Delhi. "Abe hosted a personal tea ceremony for PM Modi in 2014 and he narrated to him the history of tea ceremonies in his family and the distinctive nature of the occasion. It was a rare gesture of graciousness and friendship,'' says Akbaruddin.

Abe spoke about the new security awakening in a speech in the Indian Parliament in 2007, his first stint as the PM. "Where exactly do we now stand historically and geographically? To answer this question, I would like to quote here the title of a book authored by the Mughal prince Dara Shikoh in 1655. We are now at a point at which the Confluence of the Two Seas is coming into being. The Pacific and the Indian Ocean are now bringing about a dynamic coupling as seas of freedom and of prosperity. A 'broader Asia' that broke away geographical boundaries is now beginning to take on a distinct form. Our two countries have the ability — and the responsibility — to ensure that it broadens yet further and to nurture and enrich these seas to become seas of clearest transparence."

ABE & INDIA TIES

2006: India-Japan relationship was upgraded to a Global and Strategic Partnership with the provision of annual Prime Ministerial Summits

2007: Abe became the first-ever Japanese PM to address a joint session of Indian Parliament. He recalled that India's first PM Jawaharlal Nehru had hosted Abe's maternal grandfather, the then Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, in New Delhi in 1957

2014: Abe was the Chief Guest at the Republic Day parade

2014: During PM Narendra Modi's visit to Japan, the two countries upgraded their relationship to a 'Special Strategic and Global Partnership'

2017: Abe, during his India visit, saw the laying of the foundation of India's first bullet train project at Ahmedabad; the 508-km Mumbai-Ahmedabad high-speed corridor is being built with Japanese support at an estimated cost of ` 1.1 trillion

2021: Abe was awarded the Padma Vibhushan, India's second-highest civilian award

Abe played a role in scripting Varanasi's development story

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

THE news of Shinzo Abe's assassination shocked the people of Varanasi. The former Japanese PM did not just have a great personal bonding with Prime Minister Narendra Modi but also had a special connect with his parliamentary constituency.

A silent tribute was paid to Abe at the Japanese temple in Sarnath. Even the Ganga Aarti of Friday was dedicated to the departed soul who played a significant role in scripting the development story of the holy city. The Japanese leader had visited Kashi, the land of Lord Shiva, with Modi on December 12, 2015, for the first time. Both the PMs took Ganga Jal in their hands on Dashashwamedh Ghat and swore to work for the welfare of humanity and well-being of the world.

Abe's affinity for Indian culture was well-reflected when he, along with PM Modi, watched the Ganga Aarti for one hour, sitting along the banks of the holy river.

During that visit, Abe and Modi had together announced the state-of-the-art International Convention Centre — Rudraksha. The auditorium, the foundation of which was laid in 2018 by Modi, has been constructed as a symbol of India-Japan ties blending the culture of the ancient city with the modernity of Japan.

In fact, Rudraksha was conceived in Kyoto where the two Prime Ministers had announced Kashi-Kyoto Partner City Agreement in August 2014. The Indo-Japanese architectural marvel became operational on July 15, 2021. It has been constructed with Japanese assistance at a cost of ₹186 crore, with its roof resembling a 'Shivling'. The Japanese government provided a support of ₹200 crore for the construction.

"INDIA is preparing the roadmap of next 25 years for reforms by convictions," claimed Prime Minister Narendra Modi speaking at the first 'Arun Jaitley Memorial Lecture' here on Friday, dwelling upon the India's inclusive growths in various sectors.

Speaking at the first 'Arun Jaitley Memorial Lecture" on "Growth Through Inclusivity, Inclusivity Through Growth" after the key note lecture delivered by Singapore minister Tharman Shanmugaratnam, PM Modi claimed that India is preparing a roadmap for the coming 25 years by reforms by 'conviction' instead of reforms by 'compulsion'.

"I want to ask this question to all of you. Is real growth possible without inclusion? Can inclusion be thought of without growth?" he said.

Listing out steps taken by his government to promote inclusive growth, he said nine crore free cooking gas connections have been given, 10 crore toilets have been constructed and 45 crore bank accounts have been opened in the last eight years.

Further, he said that prior to 2014, on an average 50 medical colleges used to be set up in 10 years. However, in the last 7-8 years, 209 new medical colleges have been set up, which is four times more. He told the gathering that in the last 7-8 years, the number of undergraduate medical seats has increased by 75 per cent and the number of annual total medical seats has almost doubled.

India is not undertaking reforms under compulsion, but carrying "reforms by conviction" to prepare a roadmap for the next 25 years. Reforms are a win-win choice, he added.

UP case: SC grants 5-day interim bail to Alt News co-founder Mohd Zubair

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday granted five-day interim bail to Alt News co-founder Mohammed Zubair in connection with an FIR lodged in Sitapur district of Uttar Pradesh for allegedly outraging religious sentiments. A vacation bench of Justices Indira Banerjee and JK Maheshari issued notice on Zubair's plea and listed it for further hearing before a regular bench.

However, he remained in police custody in connection with another case registered in Delhi.

The court in its interim bail order clarified that the relief given to Zubair had nothing to do with a case registered against him in Delhi.

The bench also restrained Zubair from posting anything on Twitter with regard to the case and asked him not to leave the jurisdiction of Delhi.

An FIR was lodged against Zubair in Uttar Pradesh under IPC Section 295A (deliberate and malicious act intended to outrage religious feelings) and Section 67 of the IT Act here on a complaint by Hindu Sher Sena Sitapur district president Bhagwan Sharan on June 1.

Zubair was arrested by the Delhi Police on June 27 for allegedly hurting religious sentiments through one of his tweets.

Seeking bail from the Supreme Court, Zubair on Thursday submitted that there is a 'new' police strategy afoot in hate speech cases and communal crimes where FIRs are registered against criminals as well as those monitoring and protesting such crimes.

Protection from arrest: SC relief to Ranjan in doctored Rahul video case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday restrained various state authorities from taking coercive steps against TV news anchor Rohit Ranjan, facing multiple FIRs for playing a doctored clip of Congress MP Rahul Gandhi during a programme on July 1.

While granting relief to Ranjan, a vacation bench of Justices Indira Banerjee and J K Maheshwari also issued notice to the Centre, through the office of the Attorney General, on Ranjan's plea seeking quashing of complaints or FIRs relating to the telecast registered against him. Ranjan had later apologised and the news programme was withdrawn.

Besides the Centre, the notices have been issued to Chhattisgarh, Uttar Pradesh and Rajasthan.

Senior advocate Siddharth Luthra, appearing for Ranjan, told the bench that as of now, three FIRs have been registered at Jaipur, Raipur and Noida. He said an unintentional error was committed in the programme and the petitioner had apologised also. Luthra said two concerned persons of the company had accepted their fault and have resigned.

"Today, my difficulty is, the first FIR is in Jaipur, the second FIR is at Raipur in Chhattisgarh," Luthra said, adding an FIR is also there in Noida.

Ranjan has also sought a direction that no coercive action be taken against him for the withdrawn programme for which he and the channel have apologised. The petition has sought security for the journalist, his family members, and his colleagues associated with the programme in question.

Rlys mulling cost change after storm over teacup

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@New Delhi

YOUR cuppa on Rajdhani and Shatabdi Express may cost less in near future, thanks to a storm in the teacup created by an RTI activist's recent tweet. A week after the uproar on social media, the Ministry of Railway is learnt to be contemplating to either remove or reduce the service charge on tea and coffee served in premier trains.

A week ago, activist Balgovind Verma shared on twitter that he was charged ₹70 for a cup of tea that cost ₹20, as a service charge of ₹50 was levied. The tweet went viral, with netizens ridiculing the catering arrangements in the railway. If passengers opt for catering service while booking the tickets, they get tea/coffee. But those who don't opt for catering have to pay ₹70 for a cup of tea as the IRCTC adds a service charge of ₹50, said a railway official. "We are seriously thinking about removing or reducing the service charge on board in a select category of premier trains," he added.

As per a 2018 circular by Indian Railways, if a passenger did not book any means while making reservations in Rajdhani, Shatabdi or Duronto trains, they would have to pay a service charge of ₹50.

Anomalies galore in health dept transfers

With the new transfer policy coming into effect, transfers in departments have become the talk of the town. In the health department, over 100 doctors have filed applications for rectification in their transfer orders. The anomalies cited include transfer with two years left for retirement, transfer in violation of couple posting and transfer within one year of previous transfer. Rules say, couples working in a government department are posted in the same district, and only when a doctor has completed at least three years in a district is he transferred. The deputy CM, at helm in the department, has sought explanation and a panel has been set up to rectify the anomalies.

Screening for superannuation

The sword of uncertainty hangs on the government employees aged over 50 years in UP. Departments have been asked to screen staff in 50-yr plus category for compulsory retirement. The criteria would solely be the performance. The cut-off date for deciding the 50-year age is March 31, 2022. The aim is to improve efficiency in performance of duties, says Chief Secretary DS Mishra in the circular issued to additional chief secretaries, and principal secretaries. The deadline for completing the screening is July 31. The CS justified the decision by referring to Rule 56 of service rule book which says the appointing authority can give a 3-month notice without mentioning reason to any employee who has completed 50 years of age.

SC to hear fresh petition over Maha CM appointment

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday agreed to hear on July 11, a fresh plea of the Uddhav Thackeray-led faction challenging appointment of Eknath Shinde as chief minister of Maharashtra. A vacation bench of Justices Indira Banerjee and JK Maheshwari said that it would be listed before an appropriate bench on July 11.

Senior advocate Devadatt Kamat, appearing for Shiv Sena leader Subhash Desai, said they are seeking listing of the fresh plea along with other pending petitions which are coming up for hearing on July 11.

"We are challenging the appointment of Eknath Shinde as chief minister," Kamat said.

Rebellion by a section of Sena MLAs, led by Shinde, had resulted in the collapse of the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) government.

Desai, who is the general secretary of the Shiv Sena, approached the apex court challenging the decision of the Maharashtra governor to invite Shinde to be the CM and also the proceedings of the Assembly held on July 3-4.

The petition asserts that the action of the governor is arbitrary and unconstitutional. In the petition, Desai further argues that the Constitution prohibits recognition of rebel MLAs of a political party under the Tenth Schedule

CM doffs VIP culture, drops convoy protocol

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

IN a major initial decision as Chief Minister of Maharashtra, Eknath Shinde has decided to doff the VIP culture in the state. He has asked the Mumbai Police not to provide his convoy special security protocol.

The logic behind the move, according to the CM office, is that the traffic on the route gets blocked when the CM's convoy passes through. "Though the decision to halt the traffic during the passing of CM's entourage is taken by the police, it often leads to unnecessary chaos on the roads. If the ambulance gets stuck in the trap, the patient's life may be in danger. Thus, CM Eknath Shinde has instructed the police not to extend special protocol to his convoy," a CMO official said.

According to officials, Shinde discussed the "change in protocol rule" with the Director General of Police Rajneesh Seth and Commissioner of Police VivekPhansalkar.

"This is a government of the common man and the common man has priority over the VIPs," explained Shinde when asked about the new rule.

Uddhav dares rebels to face midterm polls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

SHIV Sena chief Uddhav Thackeray has said that no one can take away the 'bow and arrow' party symbol from him and that if the rebels felt they were right, then they would have to face the midterm polls.

In a presser at his residence, Uddhav said constitutional experts told him that the legislature party and political party are two separate entities. "Some MLAs might have left us, but that will not have an impact on the registered party. Earlier too, some MLAs had left us, but the party symbol remained with the original Sena," said the former CM.

Uddhav's response came amid rebel Shiv Sena leader Gulabrao Patil's assertion that most party MLAs and corporators were with the dissident group. "They (the dissidents) are the natural claimants of the party symbol," he said.

He said the Supreme Court's decision is important for Sena as much as for the nation "if we want to protect democracy."

GLOBAL TIBETAN SURVEY TO BE HELD AFTER 13 YEARS

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE Kashag (Cabinet) - the highest executive office of the Central Tibetan Administration (CTA) - is conducting a demographic survey of Tibetans across the world after a gap of 13 years. The CTA is located in Dharamshala in Himachal Pradesh and has 13 offices overseas including in the USA, France, Germany, Brussels and Nepal. The last demographic survey of Tibetans was carried out in 2009. The first survey was conducted in 1998.

The Tibetan diaspora is spread across 26 countries with the largest Tibetan settlement being in Karnataka, India. Seen as a priority initiative of the 16th Kashag, the survey is a "key endeavour to get a hold of number of Tibetans in the diaspora, the collected data of which will be used as a standard measure for the implementation of political, administration, socio-economic and welfare schemes and most importantly, the same data will be adopted in the administration's endeavour towards e-governance," the Kashag announced recently.

"Besides the settlements in India there are Tibetans living in clusters in cities including Bengaluru, Delhi, Hyderabad, Chennai, Dehradun, Goa and Ooty among some other cities. We are distributing the forms for the survey through representatives of their NGOs, student councils or student unions and regional Tibetan Youth Congress. The last date to fill and submit the form is July 18," said the Chief Representative Officer (CRO), South India, CTA, Jigmey Tsultrim.

Tibetans have been resettled in India since 1959 when the present - the 14th Dalai Lama - along with some Tibetans took refuge in India after the Chinese occupation of Tibet in the same year.

The influx of Tibetans into India continued till the 2008 unrest in Tibet with less number of Tibetans now coming out from Tibet. According to sources, the numbers have dropped drastically since 2008 with only four Tibetans arriving in India via Nepal in 2021.

"With the ongoing Chinese persecution of Tibetans in Tibet and heavy militarisation by the People's Liberation Army (PLA) at the India-China borders, the exit route for Tibetans has become almost impossible," said Tsultrim.

The Planning Commission of the CTA in 2009 had published a report on the latest population census titled 'Demographic Survey of Tibetans in Exile-2009' as per which the total population of Tibetans outside Tibet as on 12 April 2009 stood at 1,28,014, as compared to 1,11,020 recorded during the 1998 survey. There were 94,203 Tibetans living in India, 13,514 in Nepal, 1,298 in Bhutan and 18,999 elsewhere. The report was released in 2010. "There were six million Tibetans in Tibet in 1959. We don't know how many are there now. There is no way to get accurate information," said Tsultrim.

As per the 2010 CTA report, Tibetans in exile make up about three percent of the total ethnic Tibetan population in the world with the rest in the Tibetan areas of People's Republic of China (PRC).

Who is the shooter?
Police sources told that a 41-year-old named Tetsuya Yamagami was arrested. Several outlets, citing the defence ministry, said Yamagami had spent three years in Japan's Maritime Self-Defense Force, the country's navy, leaving the service around 2005. He reportedly used a handmade weapon in a country with strict gun laws that make obtaining a firearm extremely difficult.

TCS Q1 net up 5%, misses street estimates

During earnings call, CEO & MD Rajesh Gopinathan said North America will be strongest driver in next 3-4 quarters

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

IT services company Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) on Friday reported a 5% increase in net profit at ₹9,478 crore for the first quarter ended June 30, 2022, compared to ₹9,008 crore in the same quarter last year. However, it missed street estimates of above ₹9,800 crore.

Sequentially, its net profit was down 4.5% in the first quarter, as it reported ₹9,926 crore net in March quarter.

The company's revenue from operations stood at ₹52,758 crore, a 16% increase in the first quarter compared to ₹45,411 crore in the year-ago period. The company has declared a dividend of ₹8.

Rajesh Gopinathan, CEO and MD of TCS, said, "We are starting the new fiscal year on a strong note, with all-round growth and strong deal wins across all our segments. Pipeline velocity and deal closures continue to be strong, but we remain vigilant given the macro-level uncertainties."

He added that the company's new organisational structure has settled in nicely, getting the company closer to its clients and making TCS nimbler in a dynamic environment.

"Looking ahead, we remain confident in the resilience of technology spending and the secular tailwinds driving our growth," Gopinathan added. Its order book stood at $8.2 billion. TCS operating margin for the first quarter stood at 23.1%, a contraction of 2.4% Y-o-Y. On the decrease, Samir Seksaria, chief financial officer at TCS, said, "It has been a challenging quarter from a cost management perspective. Our Q1 operating margin of 23.1% reflects the impact of our annual salary increase, the elevated cost of managing the talent churn and gradually normalising travel expenses" The IT services company's growth was led by Retail and CPG (25.1%), communications & media (19.6%) and manufacturing vertical (16.4%).

During the earnings call, Gopinathan said from a growth perspective, North America will be the strongest driver in the next three to four quarters. Meanwhile, the company is bringing its employees back to offices, as it gradually accelerated its return to office program in the first quarter.

ASIANOMICS

SOUTH KOREA

TAKES MORE STEPS TO CUT LIVING COSTS

South Korea unveiled on Friday measures valued at some 810 billion won ($624.84 million) to help ease people's living costs, including removal of tariffs on some food imports and increased welfare support for low-income earners. The finance ministry released the measures after a meeting of senior officials presided by President Yoon Suk-yeol as the country's inflation last month hit the highest since the Asian financial crisis more than two decades ago. The measures, which include the removal of tariffs on some food imports and increased welfare support for low-income earners, were announced shortly after. Yoon's comment came as inflation rose last month to the highest level since the Asian financial crisis in the late 1990s, reinforcing bets that the central bank would deliver an unprecedented 50 basis-point raise in the policy interest rate at a meeting it will hold next week.

TAIWAN

JUNE EXPORTS SOAR, OUTLOOK GOOD

Taiwan's exports rose in June on sustained demand for technology products even as shipments to China weakened, and the government said the outlook was good as companies ramp up for the end-of-year holiday season despite concerns over Ukraine and inflation. Exports rose 15.2% in June from a year earlier to $42.2 billion, the Ministry of Finance said on Friday, the second-highest monthly amount on record and up for the 24th consecutive month. That was faster than the 12.5% rise recorded in May, and better than the 13.55% expansion forecast from a Reuters survey of analysts. However, June exports to China, Taiwan's largest trading partner, shrank an annual 4.5% to $15.43 billion, after a 0.8% rise in May, suggesting some continuing drag on China's economy from disruptions caused by COVID-19 outbreaks. Overall exports of electronics components rose 19% in June to $17.27 billion, the second-highest monthly figure on record, with semiconductor exports jumping 21.2% from a year earlier.

JAPAN

BOJ TO RAISE INFLATION FORECAST

The Bank of Japan is expected to raise its inflation forecast but maintain ultra-low interest rates at this month's policy meeting, sources say, as fears of a US recession and rising input costs cloud the outlook for its fragile economic recovery. In a quarterly report due at the July 20-21 meeting, the BOJ is likely to project core consumer inflation will slightly exceed its 2% target in the current fiscal year ending in March 2023, up from the present forecast of 1.9% made in April, the sources say. But with inflation still much more modest than in Western nations, the BOJ sees little need to tweak its dovish policy guidance that keeps it an outlier among a global wave of central banks which are raising rates, say three sources familiar with its thinking. The BOJ is expected to project core consumer inflation will slow to around 1% in fiscal 2023 as the effect of rising fuel costs dissipate, the sources said. The central bank is set to cut this fiscal year's economic growth forecast from the current 2.9%,

IT SECTOR OUTLOOK

TCS sees no footprint of recession on its demand

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

EVEN as the investors and analysts are worried about the impact of high inflation and recession fears on the IT industry, top executives in the industry say that there are no immediate concerns.

The country's top IT services company, which kicked off the earnings season on Friday, is holding senior-level discussions about recession.

TCS CEO Rajesh Gopinathan said the company is seeing steady demand. "All projects that are currently going on indicate a very steady demand environment. We are also constantly polling to see whether there is any early indication of softening, and as of now there is nothing," he said.

However, now people are increasingly discussing about recession, but 'we don't see an immediate footprint of the recession on our demand side', he added. TCS says its pipeline is quite strong and the nature of deals are also fairly strong. Attrition is still a concern for the IT industry, and the TCS CEO says this will continue in the next quarter too.

TCS reported an attrition rate of 19.7% in past 12 months and Gopinathan said this should be considered from a seasonality perspective, as its junior employees leave for higher studies or other areas during this period.

"It will be H2 when we will start seeing some amount of more meaningful moderation of it. That's our immediate short-term view on attrition but from a medium long term, we think that both the supply side as well as the demand side is easing up," he added. The IT company, which announced a hiring target of 40,000 for FY23, said it is on track to hire the same numbers. It added over 14,000 employees in the first quarter, and its workforce stood at 6,06,331. The company has also given a salary increase of 5-8% to its employees.

India's forex kitty slips by $19bn since March on stronger dollar

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

INDIA'S foreign exchange reserves fell by nearly $19bn since March-end, through $588.31bn as of July 1, due to a depreciation of non-dollar currencies against the greenback held as part of RBI's multi-currency portfolio, called Foreign Currency Assets (FCA).

FCA fell by $15.97 bn to $524.74bn over the period. On a weekly basis the FCA fell by $4.47bn, accounting largely for the $5bn decline in the country's total forex reserves.

The fall in FCA clearly reflects the strength of dollar against a host of other major currencies over the period as the US Fed began an aggressive monetary tightening policy to rein in retail price inflation which remains at a 40-year high, exacerbated by the war in Europe, which raised the price from food to fuel. The FCA held by RBI includes major currencies like the USD, Euro, Pound Sterling, Japanese Yen, etc, which are valued in terms of dollar. The other major drag on the forex reserves was the fall in gold reserves since March-end by $2.12 bn to $40.42 bn. On a lesser note, RBI's special drawing rights – international reserve asset created by IMF -- declined by $758mn through $18bn and reserve position in IMF was down by $129mn to $5bn since March-end. The rupee hit a life low of 79.37/38 recently and closed at 79.26 on Friday. Economists expect the rupee to continue weakening as the dollar heads for parity against he Euro and to test the psychological 80-mark. RBI has intervened in the currency market, selling dollars through banks, and liberalising capital flows more recently. However, as the dollar keeps strengthening, these measures might only serve to stem a sharper fall than the 4.3% depreciation in the rupee since March end, said Madan Sabnavis, chief economist, Bank Of Baroda.

Meanwhile, Nifty and Sensex posted over half a percent gains, as FIIs covered their bearish bets in the index futures segment and tapered their selling in the cash market.

ONGC, OIL win in OALP-7 bid, 10 more blocks on offer

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ NewDelhi

STATE-OWNED ONGC, OIL and GAIL won 7 out of 8 blocks offered for exploration and production of oil and gas in the OALP (Open Acreage Licensing Policy) 7th bid round.

According to the petroleum ministry, Oil and Natural Gas Corporation (ONGC) won three blocks, Oil India Ltd (OIL) won two, GAIL and Sun Petrochemicals won one each.

Meanwhile, the ministry has also launched the OALP bid round 8, offering 10 blocks for international competitive bidding on July 7, 2022.

These ten blocks are spread across 9 sedimentary basins and include two onland blocks, four shallow water blocks, two deep water blocks and two ultra-deep water blocks.

The government expects the OALP round 8 would generate an immediate exploration work commitment of nearly $600-700 million.

Govt rolls back excise on aviation fuel for international flights

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ NewDelhi

IN a welcoming step for the aviation sector, the government has rolled back 11% excise duty on aviation turbine fuel (ATF) used for international operations.

Finance ministry has said ATF supplied as fuel to domestic carriers on international routes would continue to be exempted from basic excise duty from July 1.

The rollback comes after confusion arose regarding the excise duty on domestic airlines for their foreign flights after the government on July 1 slapped a ₹6 per litre special additional excise duty (SAED) or duty on the export of ATF or jet fuel. Oil companies were of the view that with the levy of export duty, domestic carriers would be liable to pay 11% basic excise duty for the ATF they purchase for running overseas flights.

> The alignment to taxabilty as existent pre-imposition of excise on exports is a much welcome move for the airline industry, in the backdrop of rising ATF costs
>
> Abhishek Jain, partner at KPMG

This issue was raised in a meeting chaired by India's aviation minister Jyotiraditya Scindia on Tuesday as the levy would favour international carriers who are exempt from such duties as per the Chicago convention. Abhishek Jain, partner - indirect tax at KPMG India, says: "This alignment to the taxabilty as existent pre-imposition of excise duty on exports is a much welcome move for the airline industry, specifically in the backdrop of increasing ATF costs."

The rollout also comes at a time when airlines' operating cost has surged due to record rise in ATF prices. ATF accounts for nearly 40% of an airline's operating expenses and this calendar year alone the fuel prices have gone up by a whopping 78%. This has also made airfares at the movement much more expensive than pre-covid times. After a gap of nearly 2 years and 3 months, international flight movements from India have started witnessing some form of recovery and home-grown carriers are leaving no stones unturned to tap this market which, with the expectation of Air India, has been historically dominated by foreign airlines.

Pass on edible oil price cut benefit to users: Govt

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ NewDelhi

THE Centre on Friday said it, in a meeting, had asked edible oil associations to pass on the benefit of price cut by reducing MRP of edible oils by ₹15 with immediate effect.

The Department of Food and Public Distribution, in a statement, said the price to distributors by the manufacturers and refiners also needed to be reduced immediately so that the price drop is not diluted."It was also impressed upon that whenever a reduction in price to distributors is made by the manufactures/refiners, the benefit should be passed on to the consumers by the industry and the department may be kept informed on a regular basis," said the statement.

It also asked the companies that have not cut their prices to reduce their prices. Meanwhile, Mother Dairy has reportedly cut prices of soyabean oil and rice bran oil by up to ₹14. During the meeting it was discussed that the international prices of imported edible oils are on a downward trend, which is a very positive picture in the edible oil scenario and, therefore, the domestic edible oil industry needs to ensure that the prices in the domestic market also drop commensurately, according to the statement. "And, this price drop has to be passed on expeditiously to consumers without in a laggard fashion." There has already been a reduction in oil prices as the government reduced the import duty on edible oils making them cheaper.

Mutual funds witness ₹70K cr outflow in June

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ NewDelhi

MUTUAL fund industry witnessed a massive outflow of ₹70,000 crore in June on the back of heavy redemption in debt funds, which saw net outflows of ₹92,000 crore.

The outflow in debt funds was largely accounted for by overnight, liquid and ultra short duration funds, which together were responsible for over half of the outflow in debt funds.

N S Venkatesh, chief executive of mutual fund body AMFI, attributed the negative flows in debt schemes to quarter-ending. "Corporates redeem their Debt investments for advance tax payments and banks want to avoid capital charge enforced by RBI ahead of the quarter ending, he said adding that July and August 2022 would be better for debt schemes.

However, equity funds continue to see net inflows. Despite volatile equity markets, equity mutual funds received net inflows of ₹15,500 crore. Even in May equity funds had managed to receive net inflows of ₹18,500 crore. A big reason for continued inflows in equity funds is robust collection from retail investors through systematic investment plans (SIP).

Govt startup portal to come in 2 months

MONIKA YADAV @ NewDelhi

THE Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) will roll out an online platform in two months to facilitate funding for startups, Shruti Singh, Joint Secretary with the department, said on Friday.

The Small Industries Development Bank of India (SIDBI) is developing the portal, which will help the startups in accessing early-stage funding, she added. "The online portal will help the startups in approaching investors for necessary funding. It will be launched in two months. SIDBI is developing the portal on which alternative investment funds (AIFs) can register and startups can pitch them for funding," Singh stated. She further added that the government is also working on corporate governance norms for startups.

Meanwhile, she also said that ₹365.75 crore has been disbursed to 99 incubators under the Startup India Seed Fund scheme. Besides this, ₹76 crore has been approved for 436 startups under the same scheme.

The government had launched the Seed Fund Scheme last year with the aim of providing them with adequate funds across sectors. The total corpus earmarked for providing seed funding to startups through incubators is ₹945 crore. In addition, under the scheme Fund of Funds more than ₹7,000 crore has been committed to 86 AIFs.

Employers offer perks to gain employee confidence: Indeed

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ NewDelhi

EMPLOYERS are increasingly providing differentiated offerings like paid time off, ESOP, mental health programmes among others, in a bid to win employees, said Sashi Kumar, head of sales for Job portal Indeed India.

Speaking to TNIE, Kumar said, In terms of perks, there have been some differentiated offerings. "But of late, it's been mostly around work-life balance, flexibility, mental health, and offering employees the overall feeling of being cared for not just from a work perspective, but also from their personal life perspective."

Indeed data, sourced by TNIE, shows that the number of job postings with perks and benefits have increased substantially in the last three years. The highest increase was seen in paid time off, which increased by 1590% from May 2019 to May 2022. Some of the other perks include remote work (334%), employee recognition (216%) and employee stock ownership plan or ESOP (149%). "Certainly, we're seeing more focus on mental health and overall health of employees. Right now, it's an employee market and most employers are making all sorts of efforts to regain employee and employee confidence by offering things that really matter," he said. Kumar goes on to add that at Indeed, the company has introduced a 'You' day – which is an additional day off in the working month to get anything done. "Whether they want to take a break or they want to get some bank work done - there's one day given off every month."

Hiring

Kumar says that hiring has been dramatically optimistic and there has been a significant improvement in roles opening in tier two cities. The total percentage of job postings for Tier 2 and Tier 3 have gone up from about 0.01% to 2.1% of all our postings. "I think this is a reflection of the fact that a lot of companies are doing fillips and therefore are able to offer positions in smaller cities."

Inquiry may force judoka Jasleen to miss CWG

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

ONE of the six selected Indian judokas may miss the 2022 Commonwealth Games in Birmingham due to the ongoing inquiry ordered to probe misconduct/misdeeds committed during the Madrid European Open and Training camp last month.

The judoka in question has already been suspended by the administrator, who was appointed by the Delhi High Court to look into the affairs of the Judo Federation of India (JFI). Justice Pankaj Naqvi (retd), former judge of Allahabad HC, took charge as administrator.

The six selected judokas include three male and as many female athletes. Vijay Kumar Yadav (-60kg), Jasleen Singh Saini (-66kg) and Deepak Deswal (-100kg) were selected in the male category while L Shushila Devi (-48kg), Suchika Tariyal (-57kg) and Tulika Maan (+78kg) were picked up in the female category for the CWG.

The order uploaded on the JFI website reads, "Whereas it was brought to the notice of the undersigned that you (Mr. Harshdeep Singh Brar) along with Mr. Jasleen Singh Saini and Mr. Divyanshupuri, Judokas, left the hotel at Madrid on the night of 25.06.2022 without any permission from the Coach, went to a local pub, consumed alcohol and brought two local girls in the hotel room along with alcohol. Thereafter, both the girls ran out of the hotel and one of them filed a complaint of sexual harassment against you (Brar) in the Police Station concerned."

Even though the order says coaches informed the administrator that prima facie charges could not be established and the local court released Brar provisionally, the administrator after hearing judokas' version and considering other reports decided to initiate an inquiry into the issue. R Vijaya Mohana Murli has been asked to conduct the inquiry and submit his report within two months before the JFI.

Given the order, it looks highly unlikely that Jasleen would be able to compete at the quadrennial event. The judo competitions at the CWG are scheduled on August 1, 2 and 3. Incidentally, a pre-departure camp is scheduled to begin for the judokas at the IG Stadium, New Delhi on Saturday. The camp will run till July 26.

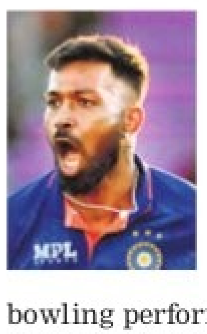
In-form Pandya gives new strength to India

GOMESH S @Chennai

SIX months ago as Hardik Pandya geared up to lead Gujarat Titans in the Indian Premier League, all eyes were on the all-rounder. Not just to see how he fares as a captain, but more so to see if he could make an impact with the ball.

After all, he has been India's trump card to the balance in their batting-order since his debut in 2016. They had backed him and groomed him from a lower-order batter who can bowl and be a genuine all-round option. In the last couple of years his constant injuries — Pandya came back for the T20 World Cup, but hardly made an impact — meant India had to try other options.



However, as the IPL season progressed, Pandya showed once again what he could offer when he is at his best. He excelled not just as an all-rounder but also as a leader, taking Titans to title in their debut season.

He made his comeback to the Indian team for the South Africa series. And as he played more, he got better, especially during the Ireland tour. In the first T20I against England, Pandya bowled his full quota of overs for the first time since coming back, and finished with his career-best bowling performance (4/33), coupling up with his maiden T20I half-century (51). As he became the first Indian to score a fifty and take four wickets in a T20I on Thursday, two things stood out. For starters, Pandya was bowling at good pace, troubling the England batters with the extra bounce he was able to get from the surface. Three of the four wickets he took involved his trademark back-of-length/short deliveries. And he was able to sustain the same through his full quota of overs. "I was more happy when I touched the 90.5mph mark," said the allrounder in a video shared by BCCI.tv. "Credit goes to my team (of support staff) as well. Soham Desai and AI Harrsha (both strength & conditioning coaches) have prepared me well."

Djokovic ends Cam-run

Nole loses first set before bouncing back, faces Kyrgios in the final

AFP @Wimbledon

Serbia's Novak Djokovic will be aiming to win his seventh Wimbledon title when he faces Australia's Nick Kyrgios in the final on Sunday | AFP

NOVAK Djokovic recovered from a shaky start to beat Cameron Norrie in four sets at Wimbledon on Friday and reach a record 32nd Grand Slam final, where he will play Nick Kyrgios.

The Serbian top seed was broken three times in the first set but turned the tables dramatically on his British opponent to win 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 in the Centre Court sunshine to reach his eighth final at the All England Club. The six-time Wimbledon champion's new mark of 32 finals at the majors is a record for men's tennis.

It puts him one ahead of Roger Federer and two clear of Rafael Nadal, who pulled out of the tournament injured on Thursday. "He was the better player in the first set," said Djokovic. "Semis of a Slam, I played them a lot, but there is always pressure, from yourself and from the outside."

Djokovic and Norrie both dropped serve at the first time of asking, with the crowd offering vocal backing to the ninth seed.

But while Norrie quickly found his rhythm, Djokovic — apart from a stunning "tweener" lob — was strangely off-key, losing his serve twice more in the set, which Norrie sealed with an ace. The Serb landed just 55 percent of his first serves and made 12 unforced errors against his left-handed opponent in the opening set.

Djokovic looked more composed at the start of the second set, finding more rhythm on his serve and cutting out the errors. A single break for the 35-year-old in the eighth game changed the complexion of the match, putting him 5-3 up.

RESULTS: MEN'S SINGLES (SEMIFINALS)

Men in Blue to tour Zimbabwe for three ODIs in August

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

AS previously reported by this newspaper, soon after the tour of Caribbean and US, the Indian team will head to Zimbabwe for a short trip to feature in three ODIs. Although the Zimbabwe Cricket was pushing to include T20Is in the tour, the BCCI has agreed only to play the ODIs as it falls under the Super League, which acts as the qualifier for the 2023 World Cup to be staged in India.

After the completion of the England tour, India will head to West Indies to play three ODIs where a team led by Shikhar Dhawan will be in action. And for the five-match T20Is that will be played in the Caribbean and Florida in US and ends on August 7, the BCCI is set to field a full-strength XI.

With all the priority now on the T20 World Cup in Australia, the BCCI is planning to send a second-string team to Zimbabwe. The team is likely to reach Harare — where all the three matches will be played — on August 15 and will play the ODIs on August 18, 20 and 22.

This will be India's first tour to Zimbabwe in six years.

The T20 team, which will comprise of all the regulars will get a couple of weeks rest after the Caribbean tour and then depart to Sri Lanka for the Asia Cup. Despite protests in teh country, Sri Lanka has managed to keep the Asia Cup.

Soon after the Asia Cup, India will take on Australia in three T20Is at home before leaving for Down Under in the first week of October to prepare for the World Cup. While a possibility to host another home series was also in the pipeline, it is understood that the Indian team management wanted the team to fly to Australia as early as possible to get acclimatized to the conditions.

In all likelihood, before the practice matches, there is likely to be a boot camp in Australia. While an ideal preparation for the World Cup would have been to play a series in Australia, the hosts too have a packed calendar involving a series against England and West Indies at home before the showpiece event. Similarly, even New Zealand are hosting a tri-series. South Africa is the only team available and there were indications that India might host them after Australia. However, that looks very unlikely.

From exchanging gifts to shopping for the perfect look, Bengalureans talk to CE about how they are preparing for Eid-ul-Adha, which falls on July 10, and what makes it special for them

FOOD AND FESTIVITIES

ISHRATH MUBEEN

Yusra Mufeed decorates her home with lights and lanterns every Eid-ul-Adha, also known as Bakrid, to make it Instagram worthy and this year is no different. The psychology student loves DIY decor and has been doing it for years now. "I create wall hangings and decorate the living room. This year, the theme is golden and black. My mom would decorate our home all these years, and now I do the prepping up," Mufeed says.

Not just the decor, but desserts make the day special too. In addition to Sheerqurma, Mufeed prepares exotic desserts like Baklava and Kunafa. "This Eid I am preparing a middle eastern delicacy called Basbousa. I learnt the recipe from YouTube videos and have prepared it twice before Eid," she says.

Just like Mufeed, Mohamed Jami too eagerly looks forward to the festival, as for him he gets to meet his friends and his extended family. "After our morning prayers and lunch, we head out with sweets to meet our relatives or they come over with the desserts. It is special because it is a celebration of the completion of the Hajj and a commemoration of Prophet Ibrahim's sacrifice," says the IT professional.

For Zuhen Hussain, the excitement begins a week ahead of Eid. "One of the most important traditions we have been following is the exchanging of gifts. The intention is to make it special for each member of the family. About 10 days before Eid, my husband and I make a list of what we should buy for whom, starting from my little one to our grandparents," says Hussain, a home tutor. Although the process is fun, a lot goes into buying the right gifts.

What's a festival without any retail therapy? Manzoom Fahmi kickstarts the Eid preps with shopping being on top of her list. "Anarkalis and long suits are back in fashion and almost every store in the city has an impressive variety. I think it looks best in pastel shades and red. My go-to shopping spot is Jayanagar as there are a lot of stores to choose from," says Fahmi, adding that she is completing the whole look with big jhumkas and bangles.

Many non-muslims like Varun Kumar, a teacher, also look forward to the festival, as they love the feel of the festivities. "During Eid, the entire city is lit and joyful. There are also food stalls with a variety of delicacies. My friends who celebrate invite me for lunch. The warmth and joy are incomparable," says the self proclaimed foodie.

FIT BIT

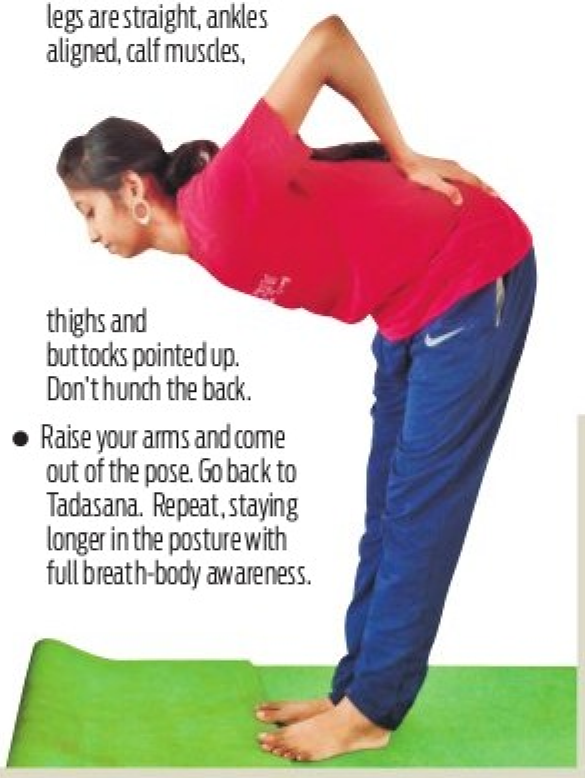
ARDHA UTTANASANA HANDS ON BACK

(HALF FORWARD FOLD HANDS ON BACK)

It is a variation and preparation for the basic pose of Uttanasana (Standing Forward Fold Pose). This pose engages the core muscles, keeping the hips, shoulders, knees and ankle joints active to remain in a well aligned L-shaped body. It can be part of the warm-up practices. Spiritually, it is associated with Swadisthana (Sacral) and Muladhara (Root) Chakras.

STEPS

- Begin in Tadasana (Mountain Pose), aligning your body with spine, shoulders rolled behind, and breathing softly.
- Inhale, and bend forward while exhaling. Keeping the hands on the hips can allow practitioners to bend from the lower back. Feel the stretch at the hamstrings and the lower back.
- Connecting with this stretch helps in guiding you to go further. Remain here for 30 seconds. Inhale, release and go again. Do as many rounds as possible.
- Ensure feet are together, legs are straight, ankles aligned, calf muscles, thighs and buttocks pointed up. Don't hunch the back.
- Raise your arms and come out of the pose. Go back to Tadasana. Repeat, staying longer in the posture with full breath-body awareness.



BENEFITS

- Lengthens the spine, and strengthens the back.
- Breathing improves and so does the lung capacity.
- Contracts the chest and abdomen.
- Massages organs during menstruation and reduces uneasiness or discomfort.
- Builds sthiram and sukham in the posture.
- Improves, building a well toned core, back, and legs.
- Brings balance in the body, keeps it energised.
- Helps in toning the spleen, kidney, liver and reproductive organs.
- Beneficial in reducing anxiety, fatigue and stress.

LIMITATIONS

People with abdominal hernia and joint pains, hamstring and lower back injuries, should avoid.

Senior citizens, beginners and pregnant women in their third trimester can do it with a little space between their feet.

RUBINATIONS

Rubi Chakravarti

Writer, actor and funny girl

LIFE was seemingly limping back to normal. Whether it was the 'new normal' or just the old normal with a twist is debatable. My phone and home were flooded with invitations, and little goodie boxes with invitations (a brain-child of a slew of over eager PRs no doubt), followed by phone calls. There is no doubt that the newer breed of agencies want you to do the work for them. Some don't even ask (or cough politely) but send out a profusion of hashtags more or less 'telling' you who to tag! Not one to take things lying down, I still buckle under the sheer temerity and post on my social media whether I accept the invitation or not!

I had a great time the last two weeks. I threw caution to the winds as I met up with old friends and shared a tipple and laughed with them. I was invited to the Renaissance Hotel for the re-opening of their 'sweet & savoury' outlet, Cinnamon. Their new GM, Manisha Sharma is someone I had met before and it was a very nice and intimate event with only a handful of guests. I really can't fathom this obsession with numbers where newly launched places like to cram people into a room where no one can converse, get a drink or sample the fare. This event was perfect as the staff too was able to look after the invitees.

Manisha Sharma and Chetan Kamani

There were many intimate dinners and lunches at friends' homes where we discussed life, travel-plans and children. There was much good natured ribbing about yours truly becoming the most 'gorgeous and sexiest' grandma (my words, not theirs) this side of the Suez Canal. Frankly it hasn't sunk in yet. Will I adore/spoil my grandchild? Naturally! But as I always tell my daughter: You look after your baby and leave me to look after mine!

The Chaine des Rotisseurs Gala Dinner is something all of us were looking forward to which was held at The Conrad. Their new executive-chef Prasad Metrani, had embarked on an ambitious theme of a 'Symbiosis of Plants, Animals and Humans! The dinner symbolised the easy osmosis between all three and a great deal of effort went into the serving and presentation of this grand dinner to the discerning palates of The Chaine members. Though leaving one's seat and walking around during dinner was frowned upon, the members on our table were all great friends and the fun element was contagious especially after a few excellent wines!

Just when I thought that there was nothing that could pierce my bubble of happiness, I got the news of the sudden passing away of one of the finest people this city has known. Colonel Dr Sushil Gupta was a soft-spoken, affectionate and the kindest man many of us have had the privilege to know. Sushil and his wife Manjul, were generous to a fault with an open-house policy, where one could always partake of a delicious hot meal, and be sure that your troubles would be heard. Yesterday at a prayer ceremony filled with family and friends, we bid this officer and gentleman goodbye. The void he has left behind is unimaginable... Rest in Peace my friend.

SUGARLESS
MAKES UP FOR A SWEET WATCH

SUGARLESS

Cast: Pruthvi Ambaar, Priyanka Thimmesh, Dattanna, Dharmanna Kadur, and Naveen Padil

Director: Shashidhar KM

A SHARADHAA

THE poster, teaser, and trailer had given enough hints on what to expect from Sugarless. It's a film that deals with the life of a diabetic patient that completely lives up to expectations. Producer and actor-turned-director, Shashidhar KM, who is fighting diabetes himself, has brought in personal experiences that add a lot of richness to the narrative. With abundance, simplicity, humor, and emotions, Sugarless surely falls in the league of classy cinema.

The first few minutes cut a sorry picture of the 28-year-old Venkatesh (Prithvi Ambaar) when a doctor (S Narayan) diagnoses him with diabetes. The lighthearted and engaging narrative then depicts the turmoil within him. It walks us through the different points of Venkatesh. The later half tells us the consequences Venkatesh faces because of his health issue. Overall, Sugarless touches upon a grave topic accompanied by plenty of laughs.

Credit should go to the director as the film acts as a guide to millions who are suffering from the disorder. It also features diverse actors, which makes Sugarless an absorbing watch. Special credit should go to dialogue writer Guru Kashyap, whose lines make you laugh-out-loud and in other moments, melt your heart.

RATING 3.5/5

Pruthvi Ambaar, who won acclaim for his role in Dia, brings out a good show. His body language is relatable to a common man. On the other hand, the quirkiness that Dharamanna Kadur brings to his character keeps you hooked. Priyanka Thimmesh has perfectly handled her role and is well connected to the story. Dattanna's performance is the icing on the cake. The senior actor elevates every scene with his superb performance. Naveen Padil is flawless, and one cannot miss out on the comic timing between him and Dattanna. Padmaja Rao, Malathi, and Honavalli Krishna come in with adequate support.

In a film, which shuttles between the workplace and family, cinematographer Lavith has visually managed to bring out the best of every character from up close portraying their state of mind. The songs and background score by Anoop Seelin complement the story. Bottom line, Sugarless makes for a sweet watch, and the story that might strike a chord with a large segment of the audience makes up for an ideal family outing.

An earnest attempt with obvious flaws

WEDDING GIFT

Cast: Sonu Gowda, Nishan Nanaaiah, Prema, Achyuth Kumar, and Pavithra Lokesh

Director: Vikram Prabhu

A SHARADHAA

WEDDING Gift is a bold take on the manipulation of Indian penal code sec 498 A, which was introduced to protect married women from being subjected to cruelty by the husband or his relatives. Director Vikram Prabhu's directorial debut is a bitter take on certain laws and their flaws. Though it achieves its objective of creating awareness about the misuse of the law, it only does it in parts.

The film kickstarts with the release of Vilas Rao (Nishan Nanaiah), a pharmaceutical businessman, from prison, and goes on to tell the backstory of Vilas and his mother (Pavithra Lokesh). Living a disciplined life, Vilas falls for Akansha (Sonu Gowda) and expresses his love to her. Akanksha, who is open about feminist values, takes time to reciprocate. However, Vilas manages to convince her, and the two tie the knot. But the marriage becomes a bane for Vilas when he gets to learn the real side of Akanksha and her motive. How he goes about finding justice is what the film is about.

The film would have been powerful had it stayed to the point sans the melodrama. The second half, which is mostly set in a courtroom, is slow-paced. Although he had a good story, Vikram fails to work on the various characters and extract the required performance from the actors. Also, the courtroom sequences lack intensity. Prema's character as a defense lawyer should have been much more aggressive.

Sonu Gowda playing a negative character has done a good job with dialogue delivery and body language. Nishan Nanaiah has also put out a decent performance.

RATING 2.5/5

As far as the music depart of the film, the songs do not make much impact. The cinematographer has also failed to make the courtroom scenes powerpacked. Overall, Wedding Gift does lead to discussions and opinions about certain laws implemented in the judiciary, but it also sports some obvious flaws.

A still from Lankasura

A funny, yet forgettable addition

THOR: LOVE AND THUNDER

Cast: Chris Hemsworth, Natalie Portman, Christian Bale, Tessa Thompson, Russell Crowe

Director: Taika Waititi

GOPINATH RAJENDRAN

You either die a hero or live long enough to see yourself become the villain," it is said in The Dark Knight. Now, Chritian Bale has indeed turned villain—this time for Marvel in Thor: Love and Thunder. The antagonist is strong, and the plot is faithful to the comic-book storyline as well, and brings back the crowd-favourite, Jane Foster (Natalie Portman). There's, of course, the wacky humour so unique to director Taika Waititi. And yet, Love and Thunder, despite being an efficient standalone film, doesn't quite live up to the previous instalment of Thor, Thor: Ragnarok (2017).

Thor has been an integral part of the Marvel Cinematic Universe for more than a decade now, but his standalone films have either hit the bullseye or missed the target entirely. While the origins story, Thor (2011) was a decent start, Thor: The Dark World (2013) was a horrendous entry. And yet, anyone's list of top five MCU films will include Thor: Ragnarok (2017) for sure. The return of the Hemsworth-Taika Waititi collaboration meant that expectations were sky-high ahead of the release.

When Gorr (Bale), who seeks the extinction of gods after being let down by one, decides on striking New Asgard to steal the Stormbreaker, Thor has to stop the god butcher by teaming up with Valkyrie (Tessa Thompson), Korg (Waititi) and his ex-girlfriend Jane Foster, who has now become Mighty Thor. The story is straightforward, unlike with Marvel's recent films, and the performances are a positive in this film. Hemsworth aces the titular character who is going through a midlife crisis, but Bale and Portman stand out. The pre-title credit scene establishes stands as evidence of what Bale can do. Gorr could well have been the next Thanos for MCU that's in desperate need of good supervillains, and Bale brings in a certain eeriness to the character, but there's not a whole lot more.

On the other hand, Portman, who makes her reentry to the Marvel world after missing the last two Thor films, plays the cancer-afflicted ex-girlfriend chosen by Mjolnir. Given how Marvel seems to be keen on handing over the mantles of Hawkeye and in a few weeks, Hulk, to women characters, I initially expected the Mighty Thor to be a similar tick mark on the representation checklist. However, the film builds up a touching backstory for this astrophysicist who gets to show off her biceps in more than one scene.

Marvel does its own flexing too, through all the cameos in this film. Apart from the entire Guardians of the Galaxy team, we also have Matt Damon, Sam Neill, and Luke Hemsworth reprising their roles from Thor: Ragnarok as Loki, Odin, and Thor respectively. We also see Melissa McCarthy and her husband Ben Falcone playing Hela and the director of an Asgardian play, respectively. Waititi, who since Ragnarok has directed the Oscar-winning-Jojo Rabbit, operates in his favourite genre once again. There are hilarious ideas like a pair of noisy goats, Korg's narration of Thor's backstory, Thor doing leg-splits, Valkyrie becoming the ambassador for Old Spice... There's also the running gag of Thor seeking his Mjolnir, but being scared of Stormbreaker's jealousy. Unfortunately, these gags, although effective, come at the expense of deep emotion and serve to expose the wafer-thin plot as well. Thor: Love and Thunder does deal with many types of love—ranging from a father-daughter bond to the complex romance of estranged lovers... There's a parallel between Gorr losing his respect for his god, Rapu, and Thor getting disillusioned by Zeus (played by Russell Crowe). There are all these ideas, but...

RATING 3/5

As always, there are many easter eggs and even callbacks to films like Interstellar and Harry Potter. We get a shot of the dead god, Falligar, taken straight from the pages of comics. We see Hemsworth putting on the original Thor costumes that comic-book readers will recognise. When Thor bares it all during a tussle with Zeus, we get to see a tattoo that says 'RIP Loki' with the trickster's helmet etched on our space Viking's back. We are introduced to the evil Necrosword and given how Mjolnir and Stormbreaker seem to have a mind of their own, it's interesting to see more weapons being shown to possess the strength to control people. We have seen this with the ten rings in Shang Chi, the magical bangle in Ms Marvel, and the Ebony Blade from the post-credits scene in Eternals. After Marvel's recent show, Moonknight, the line, "Gods will use you but never empower you" feels relatable. There's a bit about Valkyrie losing her beloved girlfriend in war and Korg falling in love with another Kronan man. The first half reminds us of all the colour we loved in Ragnarok, but much of the second half takes place in the dark realm where everything is black and white. It must be said though that the action scenes in monochrome are quite satisfying.

Hemsworth as Thor is here to stay though, and that's a relief to MCU fans who have seen the original Avengers either sacrifice their lives or hang their boots. Thor: Love and Thunder pales in comparison with its predecessor and doesn't exactly take the franchise ahead, but there's still a good dose of Marvel magic in this film, and not one but two Thors!
